Dear all

I can confirm that I have cancelled the planned M2 closures for the rest of this weekend. This follows a conversation with [REDACTED] and a full understanding of issues within the Port of Dover, which is unlikely to clear tonight and at risk of repeating tomorrow day.

We will obviously need to plan the roadworks for another time, but removing them this weekend removes a potentially serious effect on Kent road users, the Ports and the support services we need to offer in relation to TAP.

[REDACTED], as we discussed, please stand down our supply chain partners. I am in KH on Monday, we can discuss our mitigation plan for recovery of lost time.
