

Graham Page submission – via email

I don't have say on this subject other than I as a Shareholder of Carillion shares, I was utterly shocked & disgusted that the directors were able to fool the auditors into giving the company a clean financial bill of health.

Thousands like me lost a lot of money because the lies, but also thousand of workers too, and all because but of the incompetence of the auditors to detect and highlight these financial lies that masked the true financial health of the company.

Trust in auditors is at an all time low, and the system needs serious reform to bring back trust in both companies and auditors that financially police those companies.

I therefore call on this review to seek the much needed reform to repair the serious damage that has been done by repeated audit scandals and companies going bust because of 'creative accounting' tactics/methods, which quite honestly should be outlawed.

Regards.
Graham.