

Supplementary Materials A - List of All Potential Sources of Sea Angling Data Identified

This document outlines all the sources of data which were identified as potentially containing data relevant to the report. These sources were primarily identified using Google's internet search engine, Google Scholar and previous sources identified by the report authors. The suitability of each source for use in spatial mapping and gazetteer compilation was determined manually by the authors and is detailed in the report methods.

Field definitions

Source	A description or url to the reviewed source
Spatial	Classification indicating the suitability of the source for value mapping. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Duplicate: Source is duplicate of another source within the list. • Protected: The source was inaccessible due to security restrictions. • Sparse: Data within the source were too sparse (or entirely absent) hence was unused. • Unavailable: Source could not be accessed. • Used: Data from the source as extracted and contributed to the final data set.
Gaz	Classification indicating the suitability of the source for gazetteer. See spatial definitions.
Cov	Approximate spatial extent of the source. E, England; EU, European Union; I, Republic of Ireland; S, Scotland; UK, United Kingdom; W, Wales; Wo, World.
Classification	Source classification. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Expert Observation: Data recorded by experts, not engaged directly in recreational sea angling activity. • Fisher Catch Records: Predominantly actual fish catches recorded by sea anglers. • Fisher Knowledge: Open text created by sea anglers • Review: Literature review, report or synthesised data or papers. • Survey (Mixed): Data collated as part of a survey with multiple data collection methods. • Survey (Random): Data collated as part of a randomised directed survey. • Survey (Self-selecting): Survey where respondents were self-selecting. • Imaging: Digitized images captured with a visual media recorder.
Type	The physical form of the source. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Academic: Data arising from academic research, including theses. • Diary: Sea angler diary, where anglers record their trip events • Print: Paper printed books or magazines. • Other: All other sources • Report: Digitised or paper report, typically commissioned by industry or governmental organisations to describe some property of the sea angling sector. • Survey Data: Well-formed data arising from a directed survey. • Web Site (App): Catch and trips recorded on a web site application. • Web Site (Forum): Fisher knowledge (typically catch reports), posted for public forums. • Web Site (SNS): Social networking sites, i.e. large scale Web 2 applications exemplified by Facebook and Twitter.

- Web Site (Static): Fisher knowledge on a static website.

Plt The platform primarily covered by the source. All, contains information on all platforms; Af, Afloat, combining charter boat, kayak and private boat sea angling; CB, Charter boat; Ky, Kayak; PB, Private boat; Sh, shore; U, Unspecified
