Claimant: Mr S Whyte

Respondent: Marcus Trading/Hire Ltd

DEFAULT JUDGMENT

Employment Tribunals Rules of Procedure 2013

1. The Tribunal orders the Respondent to pay to the Claimant the sum of £1,320 in respect of the unlawful deduction from his wages.

REASONS

1. The Claimant worked seven days in total for the Respondent, including two days by way of an induction. Each induction day lasted 8 hours. He worked 10 hours each day on the other five days that he worked for the Respondent. His agreed gross hourly rate of pay was £20 per hour. He has not been paid any wages by the Respondent and accordingly there has been an unlawful deduction of wages of £1,320, namely 66 hours worked at £20 per hour. The Respondent will be required to make deductions for income tax and employee national insurance contributions from the sum of £1,320 and account for these to HMRC.
