

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM TO
THE PROHIBITION ON QUANTITATIVE RESTRICTIONS (EU EXIT)
REGULATIONS 2020

2020 No. [XXXX]

1. Introduction

- 1.1 This explanatory memorandum has been prepared by the Department for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy and is laid before Parliament by Act.
- 1.2 This memorandum contains information for the Joint Committee on Statutory Instruments.

2. Purpose of the instrument

- 2.1 The purpose of this instrument is to end the application of the rights flowing from the EU Treaty provisions which prohibit the imposition of quantitative restrictions and equivalent measures on imports or exports within the EU after the end of the transition period. The Treaty provisions in question are found in Articles 34 to 36 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the EU (TFEU). They apply to all goods not otherwise subject to EU harmonised legislation (the non-harmonised goods sector). The SI also makes provision in respect of similar provisions in the EEA agreement and in agreements between the EU and Switzerland and the EU and Turkey.
- 2.2 The intention of removing these provisions is to ensure that there is no barrier to diverging from EU rules should GB chose to do so, such as new administrative or legislative measures that would create barriers to trade that infringe the free movement Articles. Divergence may also occur where the UK chooses not to reflect or keep pace with new or updated EU legislation. It is uncertain what rights would be accorded under those provisions at the end of the Transition Period, but the revocation of those rights from retained EU law will remove any ambiguity in respect of movement of goods between the EU and GB. (The NI Protocol will govern Northern Ireland and the movement of goods between the EU and NI, and the movement of goods between NI and GB will be provided for in accordance with the Protocol and domestic law.)
- 2.3 Explanations

What did any relevant EU law do before exit day?

Articles 34 and 35 TFEU prohibit the imposition of quantitative restrictions or equivalent measures (such as regulatory requirements) on imports and exports by Member States, unless justified under Article 36 in the interests of for example, public security; the protection of health and life of humans, animals or plants; the protection of national treasures; possessing artistic, historic or archaeological value; or the protection of industrial and commercial property. Article 36 itself also prohibits any restrictions that constitute a means of arbitrary discrimination or a disguised restriction on trade. The provisions encourage the free movement of goods within the EU by prohibiting a Member State imposing quantitative restrictions or an equivalent measure which would result in barriers to trade in goods between Member States.

Why is it being changed?

The rights flowing from Articles 34 to 36 TFEU, as well as the equivalent provisions in the EEA agreement and the agreements with Switzerland and Turkey, will become retained EU law pursuant to section 4 of the European Withdrawal Act 2018 (EUWA) at the end of the transition period. GB intends to have its own regulatory regime after the transition period, and therefore these rights are being disapplied to mitigate against challenge if we decide to diverge from EU regulations.

What will it now do?

The SI will end the application of the Rights derived from Articles 34 to 36 TFEU.

3. Matters of special interest to Parliament

Matters of special interest to the Joint Committee on Statutory Instruments.

3.1 None.

4. Extent and Territorial Application

4.1 The territorial extent of this instrument is the UK.

4.2 The territorial application of this instrument is England and Wales and Scotland.

4.3 The treaty rights are incorporated into domestic law under section 4 of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 save insofar as they apply to Northern Ireland for the purposes of the Northern Ireland Protocol. Accordingly, this instrument will be of no practical application in Northern Ireland as the Northern Ireland Protocol instead applies the Article 34 and 36 TFEU provisions, as well as the provisions in the EEA agreement and in the agreements with Switzerland and Turkey, in Northern Ireland.

5. European Convention on Human Rights

5.1 As the instrument is subject to the negative resolution procedure and does not amend primary legislation, no statement is required.

6. Legislative Context

6.1 The rights flowing from Articles 34 to 36 of the TFEU, as well as the provisions in the EEA agreement and in the agreements with Switzerland and Turkey, are directly effective treaty rights in the UK by virtue of the European Communities Act 1972 and will become retained EU law pursuant to section 4 of the EUWA at the end of the implementation period.

7. Policy background

What is being done and why?

7.1 The UK intends to have its own regulatory regime for goods after the end of the implementation period. However the treaty rights of Articles 34 and 35 in the TFEU could be used by manufacturers or importers to raise a legal challenge if we were to diverge from EU goods regulations in a way that creates a barrier to trade between GB and the EU. Disapplying these rights mitigates the risk of challenge and support our ability to diverge from EU requirements in future as we see fit.

8. European Union (Withdrawal) Act/Withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union

- 8.1 This instrument is being made using the power in section 8 of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 in order to address failures of retained EU law to operate effectively or other deficiencies arising from the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union. In accordance with the requirements of that Act the Minister has made the relevant statements as detailed in Part 2 of the Annex to this Explanatory Memorandum.

9. Consolidation

- 9.1 There is no earlier relevant legislation to consolidate. Accordingly, this SI does not make consolidation of earlier instruments.

10. Consultation outcome

- 10.1 There was engagement at an official level with the Devolved Administrations as some goods potentially affected by this SI fall under devolved competence. In particular, the consent of NI was sought and obtained since the SI extends to the UK whilst in practice only applying to GB. Minister Nadhim Zahawi wrote to his counterparts in the Devolved Administrations to seek formal consent.

No public consultation was undertaken. This is because revoking these rights does not have any immediate effect. Consultation could be seen as wrongly indicating that there were firm plans to diverge from EU Regulation at once after the end of the implementation period and cause businesses unnecessary concern. Consultation will be appropriate if and when measures to diverge are to be implemented.

11. Guidance

- 11.1 There is no specific guidance relating to this SI, however guidance relating to placing goods on the market can be found at gov.uk.

12. Impact

- 12.1 There is no, or no significant, impact on business, charities or voluntary bodies.
- 12.2 There is no, or no significant, impact on the public sector.
- 12.3 An Impact Assessment has not been prepared for this instrument because disapplying the treaty Rights will not result in any immediate changes for businesses or goods regulation, it will instead mitigate against challenge to future changes to regulations. We would therefore not be able to prepare an impact assessment as there are no factors to assess.

13. Regulating small business

- 13.1 No steps have been taken to minimise the impact of the requirements on small businesses (employing up to 50 people), as no new requirements are being introduced. The purpose of the instrument is to support the ability to diverge from EU rules in the future and mitigate against a risk of challenge by addressing inoperability and deficiencies arising as a result of the UK leaving the EU, including a lack of reciprocity once the UK is no longer a Member State

14. Monitoring & review

14.1 As this instrument is made under the EU Withdrawal Act 2018, no review clause is required.

Part 2

Statements required when using enabling powers under the European Union (Withdrawal) 2018 Act

1. Sifting statement(s)

1.1 The Minister for Business and Industry, Nadhim Zahawi, has made the following statement regarding use of legislative powers in the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018:

1.2 In my view The Prohibition on Quantitative Restrictions (EU Exit) Regulations 2020 should be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament (i.e. the negative procedure).

This is the case because the triggers specified in the European Union (Withdrawal) 2018 Act (at paragraph 1(2) of Part 1 to Schedule 7) for use of the affirmative procedure do not apply.

2. Appropriateness statement

2.1 The Minister for Business and Industry, Nadhim Zahawi, has made the following statement regarding use of legislative powers in the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018:

2.2 “In my view the Minister for Business and Industry, Nadhim Zahawi, The Prohibition on Quantitative Restrictions (EU Exit) Regulations 2020 do no more than is appropriate.”

This is the case because the Instrument makes only changes necessary to address deficiencies arising from the retention of reciprocal EU treaty Rights that are no longer appropriate once the UK is no longer a member State. This Instrument does no more than is necessary to cease directly effective rights of the free movement of goods. Further details are provided in paragraph 2.3 of this explanatory memorandum.

3. Good reasons

3.1 The Minister for Business and Industry, Nadhim Zahawi, has made the following statement regarding use of legislative powers in the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018:

3.2 “In my view there are good reasons for the provisions in this instrument, and I have concluded they are a reasonable course of action”.

This is the case because the Instrument makes provision to correct deficiencies in retained EU law (that retained EU law no longer being appropriate).

4. Equalities

4.1 The Minister for Business and Industry, Nadhim Zahawi, has made the following statement

4.2 “The instrument does not amend, repeal or revoke a provision or provisions in the Equality Act 2006 or the Equality Act 2010 or subordinate legislation made under those Acts.

4.3 The Minister for Business and Industry, Nadhim Zahawi has made the following statement regarding use of legislative powers in the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018:

4.4 “In relation to the instrument, I, Nadhim Zahawi, have had due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination, harassment, victimisation and any other conduct that is prohibited by or under the Equality Act 2010.”.

5. Explanations

5.1 The explanations statement has been made in paragraph 2 of the main body of this explanatory memorandum.
