- 5.7 Any complaint under sub-rule 5.5 shall be made in the first instance to the General Secretary by an individual member, a group of members, a National Officer of NAHT or the National Executive itself.

- 5.8 The procedures for hearing such complaints and any subsequent appeals against the decisions of the National Executive shall be laid out in detail in appendix D of these rules and published in the members' handbook and on NAHT's website.

- 6.6 Each branch shall meet at least three times each year, one meeting of which shall be the branch AGM.

- 6.7 Branches shall meet according to model branch standing orders as laid down by the National Executive, a copy of which is appended to these rules as appendix F. These standing orders can be altered with the permission of the National Executive.

The members of the National Executive region in which the branch is situated shall be ex-officio members of the branch executive committee. All branch officers shall be full members of NAHT. appendix G. Regional standing orders can only be amended with the authority of the National Executive.

- 7.2 Where a region covers the education authorities responsible to devolved national governments, the regional representation of NAHT shall be deemed to have the powers and responsibilities of a sub-committee of the National Executive laid out in rule 8. - 7.6 Regions shall meet according to model regional executive standing orders as laid down by the National Executive, a copy of which is appended to these rules as appendix G. These standing orders can be altered with the permission of the National Executive.
- 7.7 The region shall be administered by a regional executive committee elected at the AGM from among members of the regional executive according to the regional standing orders.
- 7.8 The regional executive committee shall consist of a President, Vice President, Immediate Past President, Secretary, Treasurer and other office holders as laid out in the region's standing orders. - 7.9 The National Executive shall require all regions to follow NAHT's financial regulations, published as appendix H to these rules and reviewed every year by the National Executive. Regions must submit a spending plan to the National Executive for all proposed expenditure by the region and its branches to NAHT's head office by 31 January of each year. Failure to conform to these requirements may affect the National Executive's financial allocation to regions along with rendering invalid all of a region's nominations and delegates to other NAHT meetings.
- 7.10 Each region shall hold a bank account only with a bank approved by the National Executive.

Rule 8 – National organisation: the National Executive

The General Secretary shall act at all times under the strategic direction of the National Executive, be a member of NAHT's general purposes committee of National Officers, as defined in rule 8.19, and shall be subject to statutory requirements.
- 10.1 The General Secretary shall be responsible for keeping a register of members, accurate financial information and the minutes and records of NAHT's National Executive meetings.
- 10.2 In addition, the General Secretary shall be responsible for the appointment, activity, control and discipline of NAHT's employees, subject only to the decisions of the National Executive or their sub-committees to whom they have delegated these specific powers.
- 10.3 The General Secretary shall have the right to attend NAHT's AGMs, conferences, National Executive meetings or any other committee meeting of NAHT with the right to speak but not to vote.
- 10.4 The General Secretary shall, on behalf of the National Executive, prepare a report of NAHT's activities for each year's AGM.
- 10.5 The General Secretary shall convene the meetings of the National Executive, the AGM and other national conferences of NAHT.

- 10.6 The General Secretary shall be elected every five years via a secret postal ballot of all the members according to a timetable decided by the National Executive.
- 10.7 A nomination for the election of General Secretary shall be made on NAHT's prescribed forms by the National Executive. In addition, nominations may also be made on the prescribed forms by three regional executives and/or 25 branches from at least three different regions.
- 10.8 The National Executive, in fulfilling statutory requirements in the election of a General Secretary, shall appoint a returning officer for the election who will normally be the President of NAHT.
- 10.9 The National Executive will also appoint an independent person in line with the statutory requirements for trade union elections who will supervise the printing, distribution and counting of votes and election material, and who will deal with any complaints concerning the election procedure, if any.
- 10.10 Candidates will be invited to confirm their acceptance of nomination and their willingness to accept such terms and conditions of employment as General Secretary as the National Executive shall determine.
- 10.11 Candidates with valid nominations shall be invited to submit an election address of no more than 500 words to accompany the ballot papers. The National Executive shall have the right to require amendments to election addresses only in so far as any candidates' address renders NAHT liable to legal action.
- 10.12 The election period shall be 20 working days after the posting of the postal ballots, and the ballots shall be returned to the independent person, who, after supervising the counting of the votes, shall inform the returning officer of the result.
- 10.13 The returning officer shall report the result of the election to the National Executive as soon as is reasonably practicable. There will be a period of 20 working days following the National Executive's acceptance of the result of the election for members to complain about any feature of the election to the independent person. The independent person's decision on these complaints shall be final, and their decision will be guided by a consideration of whether or not the complaint shows that a breach of either statutory requirement or these rules were such as to materially affect the outcome of the election. The independent person may then recommend that the National Executive declare the election void, disqualify a particular candidate or take any other remedial measure.
- 10.14 In the event that any General Secretary election includes a candidate who would be standing for re-election as General Secretary within five years of reaching retirement age, he or she shall be entitled to continue to hold the position of General Secretary until the date of retirement specified in their contract of employment.
- 10.15 The National Executive can vote to dismiss a General Secretary for gross misconduct in breach of their contract of employment. Such a vote must be by over a two-thirds majority of the National Executive, and a recommendation therefore to dismiss the General Secretary shall be submitted to a ballot vote of NAHT members. The National Executive shall have the power to suspend the General Secretary while the ballot is organised, and the dismissal shall be upheld by a majority of NAHT members' votes cast.

The National Executive shall have the right to require amendments to election addresses only in so far as any candidates' address renders NAHT liable to legal action.
- 11.14 The election period shall be 20 working days after the posting of the postal ballots, and the ballots shall be returned to the independent person, who, after supervising the counting of the votes, shall inform the returning officer of the result.
- 11.15 The returning officer shall report the result of the election(s) to the National Executive as soon as is reasonably practicable. There will be a period of 20 working days following the National Executive's acceptance of the result of the election(s) for members to complain of any feature of the election to the independent person. The independent person's decision on these complaints shall be final, and their decision will be guided by a consideration of whether or not the complaint shows that a breach of either statutory requirement or these rules were such as to materially affect the outcome of the election(s). The independent person may then recommend that the National Executive declare the election void, disqualify a particular candidate or take any other remedial measure.

This rule only extends to the office holders within NAHT outlined above. NAHT is not responsible for advice given to members of NAHT by other members who are not authorised office holders of NAHT. Details of the powers, responsibilities and indemnification procedures authorised by the National Executive for NAHT lay field officers shall be as outlined in appendix I.

Rule 15 – Interpretation of these rules

15. The interpretation of any matter arising from these rules shall be determined by the National Executive, and all such determinations shall be reported to the next AGM. In particular, except where the context makes plain, all words denoting one gender shall be deemed to include the other gender and all words denoting a singular number shall include the plural and vice versa.

Rule 16 – Amendment and revision of rules

16. These rules can be amended by either a secret postal ballot of the members of NAHT, a decision of the National Executive endorsed by the next AGM as outlined above in rule 8.k or at a special rules revision conference as defined in both rule 9.17 and the sub-rules of this rule below.

Appendix D – complaints procedure

Introduction

As rule 5 makes clear, the NAHT's membership is rightly concerned to protect the reputation of the NAHT as a leading authority on education issues. This reputation can very occasionally be imperilled by the activities, remarks or behaviours of an individual member, group of members or even an employee of the NAHT.

The National Executive will safeguard the NAHT from members who: breach its rules as either individuals or representatives of the NAHT; commit fraud at the expense of the NAHT's funds or property; act in an intolerant or discriminatory way in breach of the objects of the NAHT as set out in rule 2; or who are convicted of an offence in a court of law that brings the NAHT into disrepute.

The procedure aims, of course, to be equally concerned that anyone who the National Executive charges under rule 5 should have full protection from any arbitrary proceedings. Therefore the procedure and its appeals process will allow anyone involved to be represented adequately and the final judgement on any appeal to lie outside the NAHT in order to guarantee impartiality.

It is also important to stress that this procedure and its associated appeals process applies only to members of the NAHT and accusations against them that are raised with the National Executive which then decides to proceed with the complaints process. This appendix does not apply to employees of the NAHT. If an employee's activities, remarks or behaviour are thought to have brought the NAHT into disrepute, they may face action for breach of their contract of employment in line with the NAHT's responsibilities as an employer.

Procedure for dealing with complaints against members of the NAHT

In accordance with rule 5 of the NAHT's rules and constitution, this procedure explains how the National Executive will deal with complaints brought against members of the NAHT for breaches of its rules.

1. A complaint under rule 5 shall be made in the first instance to the General Secretary, who, in the event of receiving a complaint under these rules, and after consultation with the president of the NAHT, may suspend the member concerned from any position of responsibility within the union pending a full report to the next meeting of the National Executive concerning the circumstances of the suspension. The member shall be given written notification of any such suspension as soon as is reasonably practicable.
2. The General Secretary will notify the member within 10 working days of the date, time and place for the meeting of the disciplinary committee of the National Executive. The member will also be provided in writing with the contents of the allegations against him/her.
3. There shall be a sub-committee of the National Executive called the disciplinary committee. The committee will be chaired by the vice president and the General Secretary shall be responsible for putting the evidence of the complaint to this committee.
4. The member(s) affected by the complaint shall have the right to present their response to the complaint to the disciplinary committee hearing and to be accompanied and represented by anyone of their choice. However, there shall be no right of legal representation. The disciplinary committee shall then report its decision at the next meeting of the National Executive, which may apply sanctions on the member(s) from among the following:

- Censure
 - Disqualification from holding any accredited office in the NAHT for a specified period
 - Suspension from membership for a specified period
 - Expulsion from the NAHT
5. The member will be notified of the National Executive's decision within two working days of the National Executive meeting. Equally, the member will be notified of their right to appeal against the decision of the National Executive.
 6. There will be a sub-committee of the National Executive called the disciplinary appeals committee of the National Executive. The basis of the member's appeal shall be forwarded to the disciplinary appeals committee not more than 10 working days after the members' receipt of the National Executive's decision.
 7. No member of the disciplinary appeals committee shall have participated in any way whatsoever in the deliberations of either the disciplinary committee or the National Executive in dealing with the allegations against the member.
 8. In the event that the member is dissatisfied with the decision of the disciplinary appeals committee of the NAHT, the member shall notify the General Secretary within 10 working days of their intention to appeal to the external appeals tribunal.
 9. This appeal will be heard by an independent tribunal of three people nominated by the Arbitration, Conciliation and Advisory Service. This external appeals tribunal shall hear and decide on the appeal as quickly as is reasonably practicable, and shall determine its own procedures.
 10. Unless and until altered by the external appeals tribunal, the decision of the NAHT's disciplinary appeals committee shall remain in force.
 11. The National Executive shall determine its representation at the external appeal's tribunal hearing(s), and the member shall be entitled to be accompanied by a representative of their choice who may or may not be a member of the NAHT. However, there shall be no right of legal representation.
 12. The external appeals tribunal shall not hear any evidence that was not available to the hearings of the NAHT's disciplinary committee and disciplinary appeals committee unless it is convinced that any such material was genuinely not available at the original hearings.
 13. The external appeals tribunal may alter, annul or confirm the decisions of the NAHT's disciplinary appeals committee and its decision shall be final.
 14. The National Executive will notify the member of the external appeals tribunal decision in writing, and the National Executive itself shall comply with any decision of the external appeals tribunal.
