who are living with them

Go online

If you are aged 16 or over, you can fill in this form at gov.uk/register-to-vote.

You can register as a service voter or as an ordinary voter

The way you choose to register will depend on your personal circumstances. Your unit has a designated Unit Registration Officer who can give you more information. Ask your administration office for contact details.

Registering as a service voter

- If you are in the armed forces or the spouse or registered civil partner of a member of the armed forces, registering as a service voter allows you to be registered for five years at a fixed address in the UK even if you move around. You must renew your application every 5 years, but you can cancel it at any time. Registering as a service voter is particularly useful if you are based overseas or think you may be posted overseas in the next few years.
- If you are under 18 and your parent or guardian is a member of the armed forces and you are living with them, you can register as a service voter. You must be living in Wales or would be living in Wales if your parent or guardian were not based overseas. Your registration must be renewed each year and will end when you are 18 years of age. Then you will need to make a new application to register reflecting your circumstances at that time. You will be reminded to do so before your eighteenth birthday.

The open register

There are two registers. Why?

Using information received from the public, registration officers keep two registers – the electoral register and the open register (also known as the edited register).

The electoral register lists the names and addresses of everyone who is registered to vote in public elections. The register is used for electoral purposes, such as making sure only eligible people can vote. It is also used for other limited purposes specified in law, such as:

- detecting crime (e.g. fraud)
- calling people for jury service
- checking credit applications.

The open register is an extract of the electoral register, but is not used for elections. It can be bought by any person, company or organisation. For example, it is used by businesses and charities to confirm name and address details. If you are aged 16 or over your name and address will be included in the open register unless you ask for them to be removed. Removing your details from the open register does not affect your right to vote.

If you are aged 14 or 15, you will not be included on the open register.

You will be included on the electoral register, but only Electoral Registration Officers and their staff can usually see the details you provide. Your details will not be included in any register that is published.

About six weeks before an election certain people need details of everyone who can vote in that election. If you will be 16 on the date of Senedd elections, your name and address will be given to people who run the elections, and to candidates who want to provide information to voters. You can find out more information about both registers and how they may be used at gov.uk/register-to-vote.

If you are concerned that having your name or address on the register may affect your safety, there could be other options available to you.

In certain circumstances, you can register without your name and address showing on the register.

To find out more, please contact your electoral registration office. You can find their address and more information at electoralcommission.org.uk/voter.

Privacy statement

We collect information under the legal basis of a task carried out in the public interest, as set out in the Representation of the People Act 1983, the Senedd and Elections (Wales) Act 2020 and related regulations. We will look after personal information securely and follow data protection legislation.

If you opted-out of the open register we will only use the information you give us for electoral purposes, including matching it against other sources of data to support the electoral register. We will not give personal information to anyone else, unless we have to by law. The law requires us to share your information with candidates, political parties and campaigners for democratic engagement purposes and credit reference agencies to check your identity when you apply for credit.

If you have not opted-out of the open register your name and address can be bought by anyone and used for lots of purposes, including direct marketing.

The Electoral Registration Officer is the Controller. For further information relating to the processing of personal data you should refer to their privacy notice on their website. You can find their website address and contact details at electoralcommission.org.uk/voter.
