Hi [REDACTED]
Thanks again for drafting this – I’ve trimmed back some of the info as it’s probably too complex for a PO. I’ve also suggested adding in something about the fact finasteride 1mg is only available on private prescription to try to address the point about training of NHS prescribers – in essence they wouldn’t be providing it on the NHS so it should not be for the NHS/NICE to provide guidance on its use.

I will pass this onto [REDACTED], then [REDACTED].

Best regards,

Kathryn

Hi Kathryn

I was a bit pressed with this one especially as it is due on Tuesday (privilege day) and my last working day is today. I hope this gives further information and is in an acceptable format.
Let me know if you want to push for Tuesday and I will log on and address where possible.

Thanks

Hi [REDACTED]
We haven’t had this particular PO directly but [REDACTED] drafted a reply to a very similar query from [REDACTED] a week or so ago [REDACTED] – please see attached. I would guess [REDACTED] slightly amended [REDACTED] e-mail in light of our reply. However, there are some additional points raised (e.g. number of Yellow Card reports received, and [REDACTED] put more prominence on ‘post finasteride syndrome’).

[REDACTED] please could you take a look and provide a draft response on the new points raised?

Many thanks!

Kathryn

Hi all,
Hope you're well, have you received this correspondence about the side effects of Propecia directly? PO have told me that they've also written to us directly, and I'm also checking with CSC in case they've got it. In any case, I'd be grateful for a review of this case to see if we can contribute/attach the answer we've already drafted on this. Deadline would be Tuesday 1st June, any issues, do let me know.

Thanks,

Hello,

Please could you provide the draft that you have sent to this person so we can attach or draft our own reply as they have also written to MHRA directly? (about side effects of Propecia/Finasteride)

Contribution due 01.06.

Thank you!
