Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing in response to your request for information regarding the below. Your request has been handled under Section 1(1) of the Freedom of Information Act 2000. In accordance with Section 1(1) (a) of the Act I hereby confirm that the CNC/CNPA does hold information of the type specified.

Since January 2020 how many officers or staff have left the Civil Nuclear Constabulary and been the subject through agreement or otherwise of a Non Disclosure Agreement or any type of agreement or arrangement which places any form of restrictions on them and what they can say and to whom they can say it after leaving the Civil Nuclear Constabulary.

Also covering the same period from January 2020 how many officers or staff on leaving the Civil Nuclear Constabulary have received any form of payment, salary in lieu or inducement as part of an agreement either national or local or as a stand alone payment.

The above requests only apply to officers and staff leaving after completing less than 25 years of service.

Since January 2020 the Legal department holds records of three individuals who left under an agreement placing restrictions on either party disclosing details relating to their exit. These restrictions do not prevent a disclosure for a criminal investigation or to disclose as required by law.

Contractual salary payments as part of the agreement, no extra contractual payments were made.

The Civil Nuclear Constabulary is a specialist armed police service dedicated to the civil nuclear industry, with Operational Policing Units based at 10 civil nuclear sites in England and Scotland and over 1600 police officers and staff. The Constabulary headquarters is at Culham in Oxfordshire. The civil nuclear industry forms part of the UK's critical national infrastructure and the role of the Constabulary contribute to the overall framework of national security.

The purpose of the Constabulary is to protect licensed civil nuclear sites and to safeguard nuclear material in transit. The Constabulary works in partnership with the appropriate Home Office Police Force or Police Scotland at each site. Policing services required at each site are agreed with nuclear operators in accordance with the Nuclear Industries Security Regulations 2003 and ratified by the UK regulator, the Office for Nuclear Regulation (ONR). Armed policing services are required at most civil nuclear sites in the United Kingdom. The majority of officers in the Constabulary are Authorised Firearms Officers.

The Constabulary is recognised by the National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC) and the Association of Chief Police Officers in Scotland (ACPOS). Through the National Coordinated Policing Protocol, the Constabulary has established memorandums of understanding with the local police forces at all 10 Operational Policing Units. Mutual support and assistance enable the Constabulary to maintain focus on its core role.

We take our responsibilities under the Freedom of Information Act seriously but, if you feel your request has not been properly handled or you are otherwise dissatisfied with the outcome of your request, you have the right to complain. We will investigate the matter and endeavour to reply within 3 – 6 weeks. You should write in the first instance to:
