From: Ahmad ████████████████████

Sent: 14 July 2022 07:40

To: BrowsersAndCloud

Subject: PWA Support

Hi,

Thanks for giving us the change to support you for helping both consumers and developers.

My problem with Apple is two things, they don't allow support of Full Browsers other than safari or it's WebKit, so there is not good support for PWAs as Android or Window for PCs, therefore web developer cannot have a one developing product for both systems.

Second, there is not self-promoting feature for downloading the PWA, therefore most visitors don't know about the ability to install the app, so it's either inform them and annoying them or use the App Store which they know but you will need to buy and renew each year Apple developer account and you will need and to purchase supported Mac by apple and using Xcode to upload the app and you need different build for that, while android and windows accept PWAs.

Thanks

████████████