Subject: Importance of Browser Choice

Good evening,

I welcome the investigation on Apple's imposition of their browser engine WebKit. This issue is very important to me because I have found first-hand that users cannot access specific browser features, such as extensions or standards like new image and video formats due to this vendor lock-in.

I think it is very important that the requirement that browsers use WebKit be removed. This will help resolve the problems when developing cross-platform, portable browsers by allowing more code to be reused when a non-WebKit is used, leading to better, more practical browser development.

Thank you,
Andrei Enache
