| This is a MOD fuel storage depot which provides a security and safety buffer to the local residential area. The area in question is an area of SSSI heathland within the security fence with no public access point.                                     |                               |   |           |
