

The statutory Definitive Map, together with its accompanying Statements and Modification Orders, cannot be viewed online. However, our digital interactive map does show the Public Rights of Way network on top of the latest Ordnance Survey background maps, and this can be used for most general reference purposes. If there is a particular dispute, or you need to see the statutory Definitive Map for a specific location, please email Highway Records.

The Definitive Map is under continuous review. If anyone believes a public path is shown incorrectly, or a public path has been established which is not on the map, they may apply to modify it. Please see Applications to Modify the Definitive Map.

Alternatively, it is possible to apply to divert or extinguish a public path. Please see Permanent Diversions or Extinguishments.
