3. Arrests

Table 3.1: Persons detained in Northern Ireland under section 41 of the Terrorism Act 2000⁽¹⁾

Tables 3.1, 4.1, 4.2, 5.1, 5.3 and 5.4 relate to section 41 of the Terrorism Act 2000 which provides that a constable may arrest without a warrant a person whom he or she reasonably suspects to be a terrorist. A person detained under section 41 may only be held by the police for a maximum of 48 hours unless an application has been made under paragraph 29 or 36 of Schedule 8 asking a court to issue or extend a warrant of further detention. Section 41(7) provides that if a warrant is issued a person may be detained for the period specified therein, for a period up to seven days. Section 306 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 amended Part 3 of Schedule 8 to the Terrorism Act, extending the maximum period of detention from seven to fourteen days. Changes brought in by the Terrorism Act 2006 allowed for the maximum period of detention without charge to be extended from 14 days to 28. This was reduced to 14 days by the Protection of Freedoms Act in July 2012.

8. Ports & Border Controls

Table 8.1: Examinations in Northern Ireland made under Schedule 7 to the Terrorism Act 2000

Schedule 7 empowers police, immigration officers and designated customs officers to stop and question persons travelling at ports and airports. An individual subjected to an examination under Schedule 7 to the Terrorism Act 2000 may subsequently have been detained under other legislation.

Year	Number of examinations			Number of resultant detentions ^(1, 2)
	Persons	Unaccompanied freight	Total
2013/14	n/a	n/a	4,157	0
2014/15	n/a	n/a	3,917	0

2019/20 ⁽³⁾	456	0	456	34
2020/21	65	37	102	8
2021 ⁽⁴⁾	121	1	122	30

Notes:

1. A mandatory detention under Schedule 7 takes place where an examination under Schedule 7 lasts for longer than one hour.
2. If an individual subjected to an examination under Schedule 7 to the Terrorism Act 2000 is subsequently detained under other legislation, then any such cases are not included in the number of resultant detentions above.
3. A focused engagement process can negate the requirement to move to a Schedule 7 examination. Coupled with this reduction in Schedule 7 examinations is an increase in the number of detentions, potentially due to the engagement process identifying those members of the travelling public worthy of further investigation. Whilst a large number of freight continues to be screened, this does not meet the current threshold to be recorded as a Schedule 7 examination.
4. Figures for 2021 cover April to December 2021 (see section 15, User Notes).

There were 122 examinations carried out by police officers under Schedule 7 to the Terrorism Act 2000 in the period of April to December 2021. Of the 122, 121 of these were examinations of persons and one was an examination of unaccompanied freight. Thirty of these resulted in a detention.

9. Withholding InformationTable 9.1: Persons charged in Northern Ireland under section 38B(2) of the Terrorism Act 2000⁽¹⁾

Notes:

1. Section 91 of the Terrorism Act, which ceased to have effect from the end of 31 July 2007, gave the Secretary of State the power to authorise a person to requisition land etc. Agency arrangements which came into force on 27 June 2011 provided for the DoJ to exercise these powers on behalf of the Secretary of State in respect of transferred matters only. From 2010/11 the figures published refer to requisitions/de-requisitions carried out in respect of transferred matters. From August 2007 onwards, requisitions have been carried out under section 29 of the Justice and Security (Northern Ireland) Act 2007 and not under section 91 of the Terrorism Act 2000.
2. De-requisitions are carried out under the legislation under which the land was originally requisitioned. The original legislation may be either section 17 of the Northern Ireland (Emergency Provisions) Act 1973, section 19 of the Emergency Provisions Act 1978, section 26 of the Northern Ireland (Emergency Provisions) Act 1996, section 91 of the Terrorism Act 2000 or section 29 of the Justice and Security (Northern Ireland) Act 2007.

15. User Notes

- ◆ The Terrorism Act 2000 received Royal Assent on 20 July 2000 and mostly came into force on 19 February 2001. It provides permanent United Kingdom (UK)-wide counter-terrorist legislation and provides a legal framework and specific powers to combat the threat from all kinds of terrorist groups in a way that is consistent with Human Rights obligations. The UK-wide part of the Act is permanent, to ensure that powers needed to respond to terrorist threat are readily available. The Northern Ireland specific part of the Act (Part 7) was time-limited to five years. Subject to annual renewal, these temporary provisions were due to lapse in February 2006. The Terrorism (Northern Ireland) Act 2006 came into force on 18th February 2006, the main purpose of which was to extend those provisions of Part 7 still in effect, until 31st July 2007.
- ◆ The Justice and Security (Northern Ireland) Act was enacted in 2007 and is included in this bulletin where its provisions replace those under previous terrorism legislation. The Counter-Terrorism Act 2008 increased police powers for the stated purpose of countering terrorism and received Royal Assent on 26 November 2008.
- ◆ The content of this bulletin will be kept under review and additional information will be included when relevant material becomes available.
- ◆ Following a consultation exercise and consideration of feedback, data within this statistical bulletin, the majority of which was previously based on the financial year reporting period, will be aligned with the calendar year hereafter. The previous report covered the 2020/21 financial year and thus included data for January to March 2021. This report will therefore be transitional and will contain figures for April to December 2021 only to facilitate the move to the full calendar year reporting period for 2022 data onwards. The small number of tables that are already in the calendar year format will cover the full 12 calendar months for 2021.
- ◆ This bulletin is designed to report on the key Northern Ireland specific terrorism legislation statistics. It should be noted that figures may be subject to minor revision, as most data are drawn from administrative or operational data sources. The figures are provided to the Northern Ireland Office by the Police Service of Northern Ireland, the Department of Justice (Northern Ireland), the Public Prosecution Service for Northern Ireland and the Northern Ireland Courts and Tribunals Service.
