A Thames Valley Police spokesperson said: "Monaghan has been sentenced accordingly in High Wycombe Magistrates' Court for breaking the law while attending anti-HS2 protests in Jones Hill Wood in Wendover.

"Monaghan, and any member of the public, all have the right to protest and demonstrate peacefully and within the law. Police only become involved in such protests if individuals break the law.

"If this happens, police will take action as necessary and bring people to court, if they act unlawfully.

"Thames Valley Police will continue to facilitate the rights of the public to protest and demonstrate peacefully, alongside the rights of HS2 to conduct their lawful business."

Extinction Rebellion protesters accepted in court their Bristol protest led to more emissions – but argued this was outweighed by benefits.

A total of 16 XR environmental activists are charged with wilfully obstructing Newfoundland Road near the M32 on July 17.

Four appeared at Bristol Magistrates' Court today (September 4) to stand trial, before the remaining 12 do the same over the coming weeks.

The four defendants told the court their actions were necessary when questioned over their impact on emergency services and the “panic” they caused among members of the public.

We have been living in bender heaven for the last 10 months, and are currently in the process of transforming our space into a winter home again! After last weeks deluge, we ended up with a leaky flue pipe (although it felt more like a tributary to the river avon honestly) which meant taking the tarps off our bender to do some maintenance... which quickly lead to 'fuck it, lets redo the whole job lot'. We've spent this afternoon/evening building a whole new frame with the finest selection of hazel and sycamore poles that private property can provide. Going to bed with half a roof and crossed fingers. Looking forward to winter 2.0 in our humble abode by the A303. Still no news on the tunnel. Today is bike maintenance day at camp! Learning lots about fixing punctures and janky gears.

This stuff can be really daunting, but the alternative? Reliance on cars, roads and the fossil fuel industry.

There's a whole load of YouTube channels to learn from, and lots of wonderful bike repair cooperatives around the country if you're thinking of getting a bike, we'll tag some in the comments! 🙌

Stand in solidarity with Extinction Rebellion activists facing repression

The state is pushing through repression of Extinction Rebellion (XR) climate activists.

Four XR activists pled not guilty on Tuesday. They were charged with obstructing or disrupting a person engaged in a lawful activity after linking themselves to railings at the Royal Ascot races last month.

Jessica Agar, Samantha Smithson, Lucy Porter and Sally Davidson shackled themselves to railings beside the horse racing track. They also glued a banner that read, "Racing to Extinction," onto the fence.

The four dressed as catering workers—having worked at Royal Ascot during the previous days—which provided a disguise for them to perform their action.

The protest was said to have been a tribute to suffragette Emily Davison, who died protesting for a woman's right to vote at the Epsom Derby races in 1913.

In a statement Smithson said, "I'm really sorry to be disrupting this event. But unfortunately, like suffragette Emily Davison, we have been left with no other choice.

"We are running out of time in the race to tackle the climate and ecological emergency. We can't negotiate with each other, or nature, for more time by carbon offsetting, while also promoting infinite growth on a finite planet and chopping down our ancient woodlands."

Bluebell Woods Protection Camp: Still Resisting!

The residents of camp continue to need support especially as the anticipated eviction date has been and gone; and therefore it is now imminent.

You may plan to stay over, to provide transport, to donate items from their wishlist, to show solidarity, or to witness and film what occurs.

The main protest is well established occupying the woodland for over a year, and there is a new support site around 10 mins away.

Protestors hope to hold the 2nd/8 camp throughout the eviction.

If you can help or want the latest wishlist, please contact their Facebook page directly.

If you can't visit please consider donating instead:

Good afternoon from sunny BLUEBELL B!

Thank you so much to everyone who has supported us at camp either by coming along helping out, bringing food, washing clothes, charging equipment and donating to our fundraiser. We will forever appreciate the solidarity and support that we have received over the year!

🔥 ITS NOT OVER YET!
🔥 We still need YOU!

Bluebell woods protection camp is still up for IMMINENT EVICTION with brave activists still holding the woods despite the efforts of HS2 to injunct the whole HS2 route!

Those of us resisting the construction of High Speed Two are appealing to you now to support us in challenging HS2's route wide injunction proceedings...

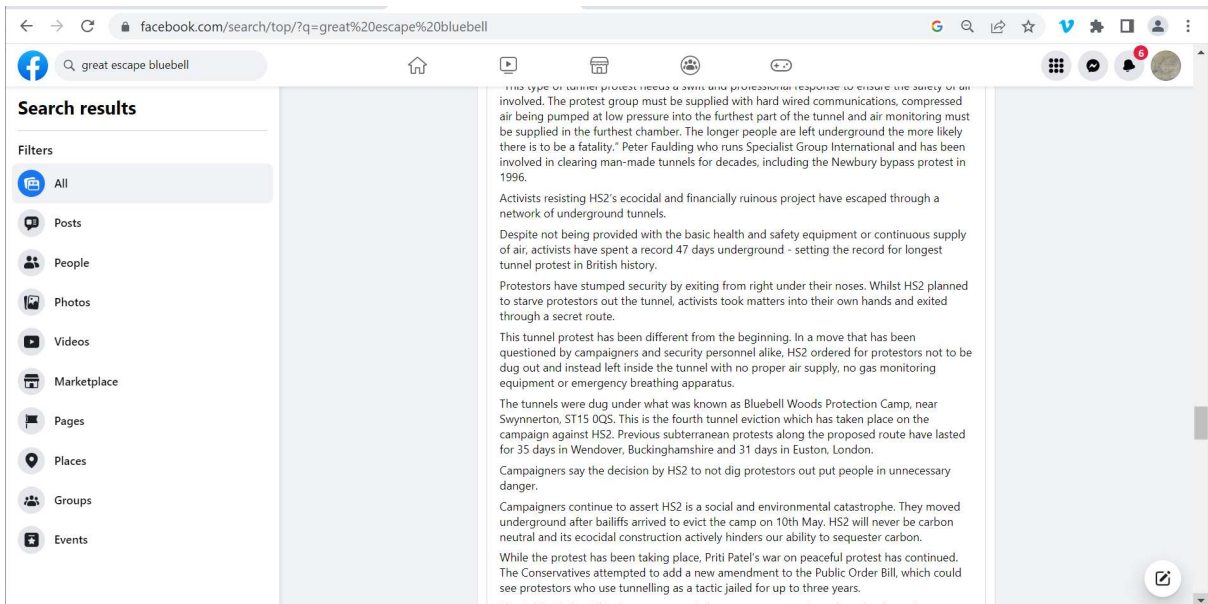

HS2 Limited are seeking impunity from all protests through a route wide injunction against Persons Unknown against trespass on HS2 land and disruption to the construction process. Persons found to be in breach of this injunction will face prison sentences, large fines and seizure of assets. Through this intimidation, HS2 are seeking to silence protest against them. Please see our crowd funder below if you are able to donate to help people fight this injunction in court.

We still need supplies for both camps 🙏

🙏 Wishlist for camp.

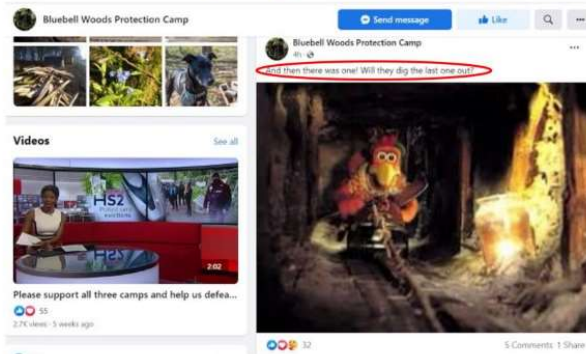

- 🙏 PEOPLE!
- 🙏 Fire wood/logs
- 🙏 Wood for building such as ply board, beams and pallets
- 🙏 Cooking oil
- 🙏 fruit and vegetables
- 🙏 Polly Prop rope 8ml and 10ml

Importance: High

Dear Ms Thomson-Smith

Claim No: QB-2022-BHM-000044

(1) High Speed Two (HS2) Limited & (2) The Secretary of State for Transport -v- Persons Unknown & Ors

We refer to our email of 20 September 2022 below, serving the Injunction Order made by the court in these proceedings on you.

You have therefore been aware, since 20 September 2022, of the Injunction that was in force across the "HS2 Land" (as defined in the Injunction Order).

We have been informed by High Speed Two (HS2) Limited that on 6 October 2022 yourself and one other person:

1. together entered onto and walked approximately 100m across the HS2 Land without permission in the A41 Thame Valley Viaduct area. This resulted in security personnel having to ask you to leave and escorting you off the land.
2. Stood on and obstructed for approximately 5-10 minutes a public right of way crossing point on the HS2 land in the A41 Thame Valley Viaduct area. Due to your proximity to an active works site and that you were no longer passing or repassing along the public right of way but stood still on a crossing point, this resulted in plant and machinery from being unable to continue moving freely on the HS2 Land.

Whilst you have been served with a copy of the Injunction Order and signs are displayed on the land onto which you trespassed (confirming that the land onto which you entered is within the ownership or control of HS2), you are reminded that you should read and consider the terms of the Injunction Order very carefully. We have attached to this email a further copy of the Injunction Order for ease of reference.

Breaching an injunction is a very serious matter and the Penal Notice on the Injunction Order confirms the potential consequences for those who disobey the order.

If you are unsure about any of the documentation you have received we recommend that you seek independent legal advice from a solicitor or citizens advice bureau.

Yours sincerely

Dear Sir/Madam

Claim No: QB-2022-BHM-000044

(1) High Speed Two (HS2) Limited & (2) The Secretary of State for Transport -v- Persons Unknown & Ors

The court has now handed down the approved judgment in these proceedings. A copy is attached.

The court has also made an order as a result of its judgment confirming the terms of the injunction that has been granted (the "Injunction Order").

A copy of the Injunction Order is attached to this email by way of service.

We recommend that the terms of the Injunction Order are read and considered carefully.

Dear DLA Piper UKLLP

I am unsure precisely what you have been told and by whom but may I suggest that before you send out such threatening and intimidatory emails to members of the public you and your clients should get the facts right and ensure that what you have been told and what you choose to repeat in emails such as that which you have sent me actually represents the facts accurately and is truthful.

I would be more than happy to provide evidence, should it become necessary, that what you claim to have happened is a distortion of the truth but please bear in mind that my version of events could easily have been sought before firing off such a distressing and inflammatory email.

However, you and your clients might prefer to cause me no further inconvenience and distress by gathering accurate information, reconsidering their position, retracting the allegations and providing me with a fullsome and complete apology.

Of all the bad things about HS2, one of the worst is that there is no interchange station where it crosses the East West rail link. When I asked why, the answer was that "the business case didn't add up." Since when did that bother them I'd like to know?

Chris Weller - so you're saying that to best you lives and property close to you, and still you think that the fact that a high speed rail line doesn't have a stop local to you is one of the worst things about it. You're right. I shouldn't talk about empathy to you. Not until you've learned what it is.

Chris Weller Author
Chris Wilson I think you're quite missing my point. It's coming. Doesn't mean I like it or want it. It's just a shame more people didn't fight it like this 12 years ago when we first heard about it, and it could have been stopped

Chris Wilson
Chris Weller - yeah. And I think you're missing mine. Just as a matter of interest, how many times were you arrested or assaulted fighting this?
It's OK to say that people should have been doing stuff twelve years ago, but they were. Protest is always driven by the stage the project is at. When it was in the planning stage there was no infrastructure to disrupt. That stuff only happens once they break ground. To each stage of the project there's an appropriate response. Rolling over and saying "fuck it. I wish they'd put a station near my house" isn't one of them.

Chris Weller Author
Actually about 30 miles away, so not much use to me. As it is it won't be much use to anyone. I have been fighting it and complaining for 12 years in what I consider to be appropriate ways; if you've been arrested or assaulted in

New resistance camp!! (And banner drop)

We are currently occupying a Grandmaster Oak that stands amongst around twenty others that are due to be felled by HS2. We invite you to come and join us in resisting the pointless and needless murder of these trees.

This site in Leather Lane, between Great Missendon and Wendover, we believe will be felled on the 15th March, unless we act. This is the third camp in a line of camps, that include Wendover Active Resistance Camp and Jones' Hill Wood. These camps occupy the planned route of the viaduct through Wendover Valley.

We have approximately three weeks to climb, build, dig and resist!! This site is directly in the firing line and has already had incursions by HS2 over the last week.

There is plenty of space to camp, or even better a selection of incredible oaks to occupy! Come and join us, bring yourself, supplies and prepare for another battle with HS2.

Four in custody over Presteigne protest damage to factory

Four protestors will remain in prison over Christmas after appearing in court accused of causing damage worth more than £500,000 at a factory in a rural town which shut down a secondary school and major trunk road.

Susan Bagshaw, aged 65, of Clawdd Helyg, Commins Coch, Morwenna Grey, aged 41, of Penrallt Street, Machynlleth, Ruth Hogg, aged 39, of Stanley Road, Aberystwyth, and Tristan Dixon, aged 34, of Osprey Drive, Netherton, Huddersfield, were arrested following the break-in at Labtech in Presteigne as part of a protest by political group Palestine Action.

All four will remain in custody charged with conspiring to cause damage and conspiring to commit burglary until they appear at Mold Crown Court on January 6, 2023. The defendants did not enter pleas, but their solicitors indicated that they would be entering not guilty pleas to the offences.

The magistrates' reasons for not granting them bail included that the group may potentially commit other offences, and for their own personal safety.

Welshpool Magistrates' Court was told that protestors were found masked and dressed in overalls with tools, hammers, angle grinder, smoke bombs and a fire extinguisher containing red paint.

More than 25 windows had been broken, as were computers and monitors, and two large machines worth more than £500,000.

The court heard that an angle grinder had been used to cut through to the roof.

Sara Worland, prosecutor, told the court: "A number of staff were present and many of them distressed.

"Smoke bombs were set off and staff were told to leave because the chemicals may be harmful if they remained in the rooms.

"It could have caused a significant environmental incident and significant risk to life and potentially catastrophic.

"The business has been unable to operate given the full extent of the damage caused. Products have been significantly damaged

"The impact on local jobs with many members of the community employed at the factory are unable to operate at present."

Solicitors for the protestors stated that the protest was a "peaceful, well-thought-through targeted action to get their message across".

Protest group Palestine Action claimed that the factory makes parts that support the Israeli military, and responded to the four being remanded by calling for their release and saying it "vows to continue to disrupt the war machine until Palestinians are also free".

Teledyne Presteigne protestors to spend Christmas in prison

23 December 2022

The factory is on Broadaxe Business Park in Presteigne, Powys

Protestors will spend Christmas behind bars after allegedly causing £500,000 damage to a defence company's factory.

Activists Susan Bagshaw, 65, Morwenna Grey, 41, Ruth Hogg, 39, and Tristan Dixon, 34, are in custody until the New Year.

They are accused over the raid on an American-owned plant.

Campaign group Palestine Action claimed responsibility for the siege at Teledyne Labtech's premises in Presteigne, Powys.

Welshpool Magistrates' Court had refused bail on 12 December.

Their application for bail was then heard on Friday before Judge Niclas Parry at Mold Crown Court.

Judge Parry refused to release them from prison, so they must spend Christmas and New Year's Day in custody.

Police were called at about 07:30 GMT on Friday 9 December after activists entered the Teledyne Labtech building where they are alleged to have caused thousands of pounds worth of damage.

Ms Bagshaw, Ms Grey, Ms Hogg and Mr Dixon are accused of conspiring to cause damage and conspiring to commit burglary and appeared at Welshpool Magistrates' Court.

The court heard protestors used hammers and an angle grinder to smash their way in and broke 25 windows before attacking computers and monitors.

The court was also told protestors had daubed the building in red paint and climbed onto the roof.

Prosecutor Sara Worland said: "A number of staff were present and many of them were distressed.

"Smoke bombs were set off and staff were told to leave because the chemicals may be harmful if they remained in the rooms.

"The business has been unable to operate given the full extent of the damage caused. Products have been significantly damaged."

The court heard all defendants plan on entering not guilty pleas to the charges.

All four were remanded in custody to appear at Mold Crown Court on January 6.

In a statement, Palestine Action said it targeted the factory over its supply of equipment to Israel's ministry of defence.

Activists say they will not leave protest camp until Shenstone factory is closed

by Lichfield Live
2nd September, 2022

Palestine Action supporters in Shenstone

Activists who have set up a protest camp in Shenstone say they will not leave until a nearby factory is closed.

Members of Palestine Action have been occupying woodland near the UAV Engines site on Lynn Lane for the past six days.

The campaigners say engines made at the site are used in Israeli military drones manufactured by Elbit Systems.

They have now set up the camp in trees and have been joined by members of the South Staffs Palestine Solidarity group.

A spokesperson for Palestine Action said:

“In less than a week we’ve had several dozen protestors and supporters join in the struggle to shut Elbit down in Shenstone.

“As Palestine Action, we’ve seen this kind of support all across the country, whether it was in Leicester, where 500 turned up in support of our activists, or in Manchester, where weekly protests accompanied direct action in forcing the closure of Elbit Ferranti.

“It’s quite clear that the people want Elbit gone from their streets – it’s time to pack your bags and leave.”

“Permanent presence of activists”

The creation of the camp is the latest action by the group in a bid to disrupt work at the factory.

“Protest camps as a tactic are new to Palestine Action, made possible by a growth in membership and support.

“The permanent presence of activists on site will mean Israel’s largest arms company is struck at from all angles – including the usual direct action.

“The addition of supporters and protestors joining in the struggle has been a welcome addition for the activists, who intend to hold the ground until site closure.

“It was direct action that forced the company to abandon both a factory and a headquarters – and UAV Engines will be no different, with activists seeking permanent closure.”

An Elbit Systems spokesperson told Lichfield Live:

“We are aware of a disruptive group trespassing in ancient woodland near UAV Engines Ltd in Shenstone on land not owned by Elbit Systems UK.

“We deplore the actions of those who have recklessly thrown rocks and pyrotechnics into our site in efforts to endanger and intimidate our staff. Thankfully there have been no injuries and a 24 hour police presence remains.

“Our important work providing advanced technology and critical support for the UK armed forces has continued uninterrupted.”

Palestine Action scale trees & occupy the ground beneath to uproot Israel's arms factory in Shenstone

News, Aug 28th

Yesterday morning, Palestine Actionists set up a ground camp and scaled the adjacent trees, erecting unreachable hammocks overlooking UAV Engines Ltd – the Israeli drones factory that has rightly been a prime target for extensive action as part of the #ShutElbitDown campaign.

Activists have confirmed they plan to hold their positions, and will not leave until Elbit have vacated Shenstone, a sleepy English village near Lichfield. The factory produces engines and other components used to make drones such as the Hermes 450 – these are lethal munitions that have maimed and killed countless Palestinian men, women and children for decades.

In a statement from the camp, a spokesperson said: “We are here to pressure the war criminals to leave Britain and shut their killer factories. We welcome community support and engagement in support of the Palestinians on the receiving end of this factory’s weaponry. Elbit’s net contribution to the world is one of abject misery, pain and suffering. Their business has a massive human cost, and so on our part, no cost is too big to stop them. Rain or sun, we’ll hold our ground, resist, remain and in the end, we will #ShutElbitDown”

Elbit Systems are the linchpin behind Israel’s technological and military dominance over the Palestinian people, supplying 85% of the apartheid regime’s drone fleet – the company also produces a wide range of artillery, chemical weapons, high calibre bulletry and much more. Over the years, they have literally ‘made a killing’ in profits by using their products, often experimentally, on the people of Gaza and elsewhere – only this month, Elbit’s weaponry was used to bomb Gaza for three solid days, killing 49 Palestinians including 17 children.

The Hermes 450 drone, which has been ‘tested’ on Palestinians and the populations of Iraq and Afghanistan, laid the foundations for the design and production of the Watchkeeper drone: the Watchkeeper is currently being deployed by both the UK Border Force and the British police for surveillance purposes.

This particular factory site in Shenstone is leased to Elbit by the real estate company Fisher German. After extensive direct action, Palestine Action have recently forced Fisher German to close their offices in Birmingham. The campaign against them will continue until they publicly announce their contract with Elbit is terminated – a pledge that was recently honoured after their headquarters in Leicester were sabotaged just last week.

The innovative tree camp and ground occupation comes after two solid years of direct action against UAV Engines – in fact, the factory has been hit no less than five times in the past two months. But, it doesn’t stop here: activists intend to ramp up the pressure in Shenstone, educating and galvanising local residents to join the struggle. Palestine Action’s intentions are clear: direct action will continue until UAV Engines becomes the third Israeli site to permanently close, joining Elbit Ferranti in Oldham and London’s 77 Kingsway offices – both now vacated.

Palestine Action van rams UAV Engines site in Shenstone as two arrested

Two men were arrested after a van was rammed into factory gates as part of a long-running campaign against a company with alleged links to an Israeli arms company. Palestine Action said it targeted UAV Engines Ltd at Shenstone, near Lichfield, early today, Monday, October 3.

Staffordshire Police confirmed two men were arrested on suspicion of criminal damage. Palestine Action said two vans "made a morning delivery", claiming one van "crashed into the gate" and a second was used to block entry to the factory.

The group has claimed engines made by the company were used in combat drones manufactured by Israeli arms dealer Elbit Systems, which is UAV's majority shareholder. Other activists were said to have "locked" themselves on to the vans, preventing their removal of the vehicles and bringing the site to a standstill.

A Palestine Action spokesperson said: "This action is the latest in the #ShutElbitDown campaign, intent on driving up pressure on Israel's largest arms company to leave. Many are now realising that when your own government actively supports the oppression of other nations, you have not only a right to disrupt this, but also a duty to.

The scene outside the factory (Image: Vladimir Morozov)

"Day-by-day, Israel's impunity is crumbling, and with it, people are flocking to take direct action at every level to end the daily violence Palestinians face." Staffordshire Police said: "Two men have been arrested at a business site on Lynn Lane at Shenstone, near Lichfield, following reports of a disorder.

"One man, aged 32, from Sheffield, was arrested on suspicion of criminal damage to property valued under £5,000. Another man, aged 26, from Manchester, was arrested on suspicion of criminal damage to property valued over £5,000.

"They each remain in police custody. Officers remain at the scene and are working to keep disruption to the community to a minimum as they look to resolve the incident swiftly and safely."

An Elbit Systems UK spokesperson said: "We can confirm that a group deliberately crashed a vehicle into one gated entrance and blocked another entrance at UAV Engines Ltd. The police have made a number of arrests.

"Thankfully no one was hurt by this latest violent attempt to illegally enter the site of a decades-long established engineering firm. This action was taken without regard for the safety of our staff or local residents.

"Elbit Systems UK is proud to provide advanced technology and critical support for the UK armed forces. Using violence to intimidate our staff and attempting to disrupt this important work during a time of heightened global instability is dangerous and highly irresponsible."

Climate campaigner given 72 hours to leave tunnel protest over aviation fuel pipeline

BY RUTH HAYHURST ON AUGUST 19, 2022 • (29 COMMENTS)

A climate campaigner, who has opposed onshore oil and gas projects, has been given three days to leave a tunnel he dug near a new aviation fuel pipeline.

Scott Breen, also known as Digger, was named in an interim High Court injunction, issued on Tuesday (16 August 2022) over protests against Esso's 105km pipeline from Southampton to London.

The injunction order said he should "remove his person and possessions within 72 hours of service of this order from any and every excavation" he had made in the area of the pipeline.

Notices about the injunction, also issued against persons unknown, were posted this morning.

Scott Breen had previously been named in an injunction aimed at preventing trespass and obstruction at UKOG's oil production site near Gatwick airport.

His current protest, now in its 19th day, has disrupted work on the pipeline, which will take fuel from Boorley Green in Hampshire to storage at the West London Terminal in Hounslow.

The tunnel was dug on land, near the M25 at Chertsey in Surrey, used by contractors for access to the pipeline work.

Mr Breen has been asked to leave but has refused.

He said Esso's owner, ExxonMobil, "continued to plan for growth in climate-destroying fossil fuel use" as the UK experienced record-breaking temperatures. He said:

"Our world is on fire and ExxonMobil is pouring fuel onto the flames."

The new pipeline will replace an original pipe from 1972. Mr Breen said:

"The current pipeline still has at least twenty years of useful life left, time which could be used to scale back air travel and develop zero carbon alternatives."

Esso said the new pipeline would help to keep 100 tankers a day off the road. It was a safe, low-impact method of transporting fuel, the company said.

Essos's court submissions said the injunction had been sought to prevent people from "conspiring to injure" its business "by unlawful means".

It said activities by some protesters went "far beyond lawful and peaceful protest and give rise to serious health and safety concerns".

It described Scott Breen, who was not represented at the injunction hearing, as "a known tunneller".

The judge at the injunction hearing, Mr Justice Eyre, noted that the protest was against a background of "strongly held beliefs and concerns about the effect of air travel" and said he considered the "legitimate public interest in the changes to the climate".

He said he was "just about persuaded" to order an injunction against Scott Breen.

He concluded that an injunction was "proportionate and necessary" to ensure that Esso was "permitted to carry on its lawful activities".

Extinction Rebellion South East has said the new pipeline would increase fuel supply to Heathrow airport 40%.

"The multi-million dollar investment in the new pipe will bake in the increased burning of fossil fuels for many decades beyond the timeframe required to take action to prevent climate breakdown."

It added:

"Flying is the fastest way we can burn fossil fuels and produce greenhouse gas emissions. It is unjust that a tiny number of very rich people, just 1%, are emitting half of commercial aviation's carbon emissions, whilst the poorest suffer and die because of climate breakdown."

The High Court will reconsider the injunction at another hearing on 7 September 2022.

Chertsey protest: Climate activist jailed for flouting injunction

6 September 2022

WOLF

Breen dug a hole and occupied it in an attempt to disrupt the build of an aviation fuel pipeline

A climate activist who occupied a tunnel to disrupt the building of a fuel pipeline has been jailed for flouting a High Court injunction.

Scott Breen, 48, dug a pit next to the M25 at Chertsey in Surrey as part of a protest against Esso's Southampton to London Pipeline project.

The 48-year-old, nicknamed "Digger", admitted breaching the court order.

He was jailed for 112 days by a High Court judge following a hearing at the Royal Courts of Justice on Tuesday.

Esso Petroleum Company Limited, owned by ExxonMobil, was granted an interim injunction against Breen and "persons unknown" at a hearing last month.

'Mischief'

It included a requirement that Breen leave his pit within 72 hours of the order being served on him.

In his ruling, Mr Justice Ritchie said Breen had been "arrogant, dismissive" and "sought to cause chaos" by failing to engage with the injunction.

"The defendant's approach to the court order was to flout it continuously," the judge said.

Timothy Morshead QC, representing Esso, told the judge that "nothing less than an immediate custodial sentence will meet the mischief in this case".

Breen's barrister, Annabel Timan, said her client apologised, "fully accepts that he was in breach" and would "undertake not to engage in any further incursions on the land".

Mr Justice Ritchie said: "There is nothing wrong with protesting, and it's the right of citizens of England and Wales to do so, but they must do so within the law."

INJUNCTING FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Today Swan went to Hatfield police station to collect her camera and phone after she was wrongfully arrested for conspiracy charges whilst filming a Just Stop Oil M25 action.

On arrival at the station she was also greeted by a high court enforcement officer that was waiting for her to arrive, who presented her with two injunction papers preventing her from going near the motorways. So not only was she wrongfully arrested, she was then setup by the police and high court.

This is a further over step of state powers to curtail freedom of speech through intimidation tactics.

Day 11. 3 tunnelers under the main fuel route from Navigator Oil Terminal, in Grays, Essex are living under a road until a meaningful statement is made regarding the granting of new fossil fuel licenses. Our planet has already overheated and Boris Johnson's govt agreed 43 new fossil fuel extraction licenses despite 8 years worth of stocks being in place (allowing for transition to low carbon lifestyle to roll out ...). Liz Truss of course is promising a total of 126 ... Can this be serious ?!!!!

If you object to this protest not sure how you are going to react to the total collapse of law and order as the climate crisis hits here the way it is already hitting countries elsewhere around the world...

A question ... please ask yourself...what exactly would it take for me to join in and ask the government , the oil and transport chiefs, the police and the people amongst whom I live to take responsibility for this crisis we are facing ?

Come to Westminster October 1st and onwards. Take leave. Rearrange whatever you can . Be there. It will be too late to act soon.

2030 ? 2050 ? these deadlines are nonsense. The evidence is clear and already in front of us . Follow your gut and ignore the deceiving press and unhelpful culture that encourage us to remain passive. We are kissing away our own young people's future.

Now is not the time to stay calm and carry on . Stay calm but get involved and help create the alternative society that is needed for survival . Quick .

About

Who are we? ♦

Stonehenge Heritage Action Group (SHAG) is an FINT-led (female, intersex, non-binary & trans), autonomous, eco-anarcho protection camp based within the Stonehenge World Heritage Site. We are resisting the proposed 'Stonehenge tunnel' See less

Our ecosystem of resistance

We come from, and are connected to, a deep history and living praxis of liberatory resistance. There are always more than we can name in a simple list, but here are some of our strongest relationships of mutual aid, interdependence, solidarity and shared struggle.

In these Isles

Other protest camps

- We come from a long history of protest camps that have come and gone, most recently the beautiful daisy chain of Stop HS2 camps that sprung up between London and Birmingham
- Ryebank Fields, Manchester
- Faslane Peace Camp, near Glasgow
- Campaign against Westdowne Quarry, Somerset

Other longer standing, currently existing radical squats

- The Lock on who run Cambridge Community Kitchen
- FACS - Falmouth Autonomous Community Space

Some of our fave groups

- CPA – Campaign for Psychiatric Abolition
- RYSE – Radical Youth Space for Educations (and the rest of AYN, Affinity Youth Network)
- CWP – Class Work Project
- LWA – Land Workers Alliance

Across the globe

There is so much going on all the time everywhere, but two revolutions we take so much inspiration, hope and learning from, and engage in (beyond) solidarity work with in these isles:

The Zapatistas and their autonomous territory in the Chiapas, in so-called Mexico, and their on-going revolution since 1994

The Kurdish Freedom Movement and the revolution in Rojava, NE Syria, since 2012.

STOP HS2
Goldi Locks · December 3, 2021 ·

A lot of the folks passing through stonehenge camp have been up and down the hs2 line and we wouldnt be able to keep the cogs turning at camp if it wasnt for the base building thats been done on the hs2 camps (and by extension all other protest camps) over the last few years. These two campaigns are closely linked in their concerns and their goals. We all want an end to violence against mother nature from the state, and from the patriarchy. Big love to everyone from the anti-hs2 community who has supported us, dropped off materials and stopped by for a cuppa ☺

In the run up to winter solstice we are working on lots of exciting things to share with you all, we hope to invite those involved with the struggle against HS2 and against violence from the state to work with us, to learn with us and to celebrate with us.

To keep the camp running in the meantime, to make sure we have all the infrastructure we need for the celebrations, and to make sure we are prepared for the festive season, we have put together a wish list:

- Untreated pallets, long timber
- Damp proof membrane and insulating materials
- Surplus apples and fruit for our cider press
- Jam sugar
- Plant milk
- Kombucha starter and scoby
- Loo roll
- Anarchist literature
- Musicians, book worms, poets and peasantry

See you all soon ☺

HM Prison Full Sutton

hs2rebellion An autonomous group of HS2 protesters shut down construction of Britain's first all-electric prison HMP Full Sutton in solidarity with jailed tunneller #justiceforjellytot

Yesterday they shut down construction of Britain's first all-electric prison in 'solidarity' with imprisoned activists and to take action against 'greenwashing'.

The action was double pronged; to stand against the construction of a new prison facility, and in solidarity with imprisoned activists.

A group spokesperson said ahead of the demonstration: 'Our friend is in prison for protesting against HS2... More and more activists in the UK are serving jail time.'

!!!!ACTIVISTS BLOCKADE MEGA-PRISON CONSTRUCTION!!!!

Today, our friend Jellytot serves his 131st day in prison.

He is 1 amongst 82,000 people in prison in England and Wales right now. Within the next few years, the government plans to create 20,000 new prison places as they 'crack down on crime'.

The Government's idea of 'cracking down on crime' is introducing a tidal-wave of authoritarian bills to make it illegal to protest, to strike, and to be an asylum seeker - ensuring that these prison places will be filled in no time.

Just yesterday, the Lords were debating amendments to the Public Order Bill to give the police powers to shut down any protest that could be 'disruptive' before it even happens. The PCSC Act, Anti-Strikes Bill, Nationality and Borders Act, Elections Bill act, Judicial Review and courts act, are all evidence of an authoritarian government tightening its grip. Even without these latest laws, we are seeing more and more of our comrades facing prison and the corrupt court system. There are people from Palestine Action, the Bristol Kill the Bill uprisings, Black Lives Matter, Just Stop Oil and countless others currently serving time in prison for standing up for what is right - whilst those who plunder our society keep their freedom.

At the same time as giving police seemingly unending powers, barely a week goes by without news of police brutality, racism, misogyny and misconduct. This month it has been revealed that armed MET police officer David Carrick is a serial rapist who used his status as a police officer to keep his victims silent. In the US, Tyre Nichols was brutally beaten to death by 5 police officers during a traffic stop. Whilst tragic, this is sadly unsurprising; the police are a violent institution, rooted in slavery, capitalism and oppression. Instead of giving the police more powers, we should be developing alternative, community-focused ways of responding to harm in society. DEFUND THE POLICE!

Our friend is in prison for their opposition to High Speed 2, for which Kier - the company we are targeting today - have been awarded a £1.4billion contract to build.

HS2 is in shambles! At this point, it may never even be built! Despite the huge amount of destruction it will cause, we are now no longer allowed to protest against it without being threatened by an injunction. This is a draconian, privately bought law which threatens anyone who steps foot on HS2 land - or causes disruption in any way - with a 2 year prison sentence, an unlimited fine, and seizure of assets.

Kier specialises in dirty construction projects - vivisection labs, military infrastructure, airport runways, unaffordable housing and prisons. Kier has been handed £400 million to build this mega-prison - HMP Full Sutton - which we are blockading today.

This construction is part of the UK governments plan to feed the ever growing prison-industrial complex - where the state offers up its own citizens so that private companies can profit from their incarceration. This mega-prison will include factory space, so prisoners can be put to work for slave wages. Last year, Kier built HMP Five Wells in a £253 million contract; they are set to build at least 3 more prisons in the next few years. Instead of investing in communities, and the NHS, for example, the government hands over billions of pounds to private companies, further lining the pockets of the rich.

HMP Full Sutton will be a "green prison" - operating at carbon net-zero from it's day of opening (although the enormous carbon costs of it construction is conspicuously absent from this claim). This greenwashing disguises the direct link between prisons and extractivist industries, and serves to legitimise the construction of more prisons. We must remember that all over the world, earth defenders are being locked up or killed so that the mega-corporations can continue to profit from environmental destruction. Instead of falling for this greenwashing, we must remember that we cannot achieve environmental justice without social justice.

We are not making the case that our friend is less or more deserving of prison than anyone else - we believe that no-one should be incarcerated.

Prisons are oppressive institutions which perpetuate a racist and colonial ideology. They have no place in the just futures we are trying to build.

As abolitionists, we understand that harm in society needs to be dealt with. However, we strongly feel the carceral system perpetuates harm for both perpetrators and victims and doesn't deal with societal problems. Prisons 'disappear' people, and discriminate amongst the most marginalised people in our society. In England and Wales, 13% of prisoners are Black, despite making up only 3% of the population and according to the government, and 36-39% of the adult prison population have a learning disability.

We can see how flawed and corrupt the justice system is in this country, through the ongoing fight against IPP sentences, where 3000 people remain in prison on indefinite sentences for minor crimes. IPP sentences were abolished in 2012, yet those sentences already given were not absolved retrospectively. Conditions such as these have led to the UK having one of the highest prisoner suicide rates in the world. In September 2021-2022, there were 307 deaths recorded in UK prisons - 70 of which were self-inflicted. In a similar period of time, there were almost 53,000 reported incidents of self-harm. We act in solidarity with those who have lost their lives to this system.

No one should be in prison. And no one should profit from the conditions which make prisons profitable. We are calling for an end to incarceration in all its forms - whether that be prisons, psychiatric wards, detention centres or factory farms. ABOLITION, NOW!

hs2rebellion !!!!!ACTIVISTS BLOCKADE MEGA-PRISON CONSTRUCTION!!!!

Today, our friend Jellytot serves his 131st day in prison.

He is 1 amongst 82,000 people in prison in England and Wales right now. Within the next few years, the government plans to create 20,000 new prison places as they 'crack down on crime'.

The Government's idea of 'cracking down on crime' is introducing a tidal-wave of authoritarian bills to make it illegal to protest, to strike, and to be an asylum seeker - ensuring that these prison places will be filled in no time.

He is 1 amongst 82,000 people in prison in England and Wales right now. Within the next few years, the government plans to create 20,000 new prison places as they 'crack down on crime'. The Government's idea of 'cracking down on crime' is introducing a tidal-wave of authoritarian bills to make it illegal to protest, to strike, and to be an asylum seeker - ensuring that these prison places will be filled in no time.

Just yesterday, the Lords were debating amendments to the Public Order Bill to give the police powers to shut down any protest that could be 'disruptive' before it even happens. The PSC Act, Anti-Strikes Bill, Nationality and Borders Act, Elections Bill act, Judicial Review and courts act. are all evidence of an authoritarian government tightening its grip. Even without these latest laws, we are seeing more and more of our comrades facing prison and the corrupt court system. There are people from Palestine Action, the Bristol Kill the Bill uprisings, Black Lives Matter, Just Stop Oil and countless others currently serving time in prison for standing up for what is right - whilst those who plunder our society keep their freedom.

At the same time as giving police seemingly unending powers, barely a week goes by without news of police brutality, racism, misogyny and misconduct. This month it has been revealed that armed MET police officer David Carrick is a serial rapist who used his status as a police officer to keep his victims silent. In the US, Tyre Nichols was brutally beaten to death by 5 police officers during a traffic stop. Whilst tragic, this is sadly unsurprising; the police are a violent institution, rooted in slavery, capitalism and oppression. Instead of giving the police more powers, we should be developing alternative, community-focused ways of responding to harm in society. DEFUND THE POLICE!

Our friend is in prison for their opposition to High Speed 2, for which Kier - the company we are targeting today - have been awarded a £1.4billion contract to build.

HS2 is in shambles! At this point, it may never even be built! Despite the huge amount of destruction it will cause, we are now no longer allowed to protest against it without being threatened by an injunction. This is a draconian, privately bought law which threatens anyone who steps foot on HS2 land - or causes disruption in any way - with a 2 year prison sentence, an unlimited fine, and seizure of assets.

Kier specialises in dirty construction projects - vivisection labs, military infrastructure, airport runways, unaffordable housing and prisons. Kier has been handed £400 million to build this mega-prison - HMP Full Sutton - which we are blockading today.

This construction is part of the UK governments plan to feed the ever growing prison-industrial complex - where the state offers up its own citizens so that private companies can profit from their incarceration. This mega-prison will include factory space, so prisoners can be put to work for slave wages. Last year, Kier built HMP Five Wells in a £253 million contract; they are set to build at least 3 more prisons in the next few years. Instead of investing in communities, and the NHS, for example, the government hands over billions of pounds to private companies, further lining the pockets of the rich.

HMP Full Sutton will be a "green prison" - operating at carbon net-zero from it's day of opening (although the enormous carbon costs of it construction is conspicuously absent from this claim). This greenwashing disguises the direct link between prisons and extractivist industries, and serves to legitimize the construction of more prisons. We must remember that all over the world, earth defenders are being locked up or killed so that the mega-corporations can continue to profit from environmental destruction. Instead of falling for this greenwashing, we must remember that we cannot achieve environmental justice without social justice.

We are not making the case that our friend is less or more deserving of prison than anyone else - we believe that no-one should be incarcerated.

Prisons are oppressive institutions which perpetuate a racist and colonial ideology. They have no place in the just futures we are trying to build.

How to keep warm when closing down a mega prison apparently!! You learn something new every day..

And everyday more innocent working class people are incarcerated when trying to stand up for their rights. The latest prisoner, #freejellytot sentenced for over 200 days for peacefully protesting the destruction of ancient woodlands on the HS2 line.

Only this last month we have heard that HS2 has admitted mistakes with their planning and some of the woodlands, like Jones Hill Woods didn't need to be cut...yet charges were made, court appearances held.

This is all part of a combined effort from the government, run by a hedge fund owner (rishi snake) to enslave the working people and help the rich get richer. The PCSC bill, the strike bill, and the public order bill will continue to strike at the heart of working peoples democratic right to say NO!! We do not agree!

!!!!ACTIVISTS BLOCKADE MEGA-PRISON CONSTRUCTION!!!!

Today, our friend Jellytot serves his 131st day in prison.

He is 1 amongst 82,000 people in prison in England and Wales right now. Within the next few years, the government plans to create 20,000 new prison places as they 'crack down on crime'.

The Government's idea of 'cracking down on crime' is introducing a tidal-wave of authoritarian bills to make it illegal to protest, to strike, and to be an asylum seeker - ensuring that these prison places will be filled in no time.

Just yesterday, the Lords were debating amendments to the Public Order Bill to give the police powers to shut down any protest that could be 'disruptive' before it even happens. The PCSC Act, Anti-Strikes Bill, Nationality and Borders Act, Elections Bill act, Judicial Review and courts act, are all evidence of an authoritarian government tightening its grip. Even without these latest laws, we are seeing more and more of our comrades facing prison and the corrupt court system. There are people from Palestine Action, the Bristol Kill the Bill uprisings, Black Lives Matter, Just Stop Oil and countless others currently serving time in prison for standing up for what is right - whilst those who plunder our society keep their freedom.

At the same time as giving police seemingly unending powers, barely a week goes by without news of police brutality, racism, misogyny and misconduct. This month it has been revealed that armed MET police officer David Carrick is a serial rapist who used his status as a police officer to keep his victims silent. In the US, Tyre Nichols was brutally beaten to death by 5 police officers during a traffic stop. Whilst tragic, this is sadly unsurprising; the police are a violent institution, rooted in slavery, capitalism and oppression. Instead of giving the police more powers, we should be developing alternative, community-focused ways of responding to harm in society. DEFUND THE POLICE!

HS2 is in shambles! At this point, it may never even be built! Despite the huge amount of destruction it will cause, we are now no longer allowed to protest against it without being threatened by an injunction. This is a draconian, privately bought law which threatens anyone who steps foot on HS2 land - or causes disruption in any way - with a 2 year prison sentence, an unlimited fine, and seizure of assets.

Kier specialises in dirty construction projects - vivisection labs, military infrastructure, airport runways, unaffordable housing and prisons. Kier has been handed £400 million to build this mega-prison - HMP Full Sutton - which we are blockading today.

This construction is part of the UK governments plan to feed the ever growing prison-industrial complex - where the state offers up its own citizens so that private companies can profit from their incarceration. This mega-prison will include factory space, so prisoners can be put to work for slave wages. Last year, Kier built HMP Five Wells in a £253 million contract; they are set to build at least 3 more prisons in the next few years. Instead of investing in communities, and the NHS, for example, the government hands over billions of pounds to private companies, further lining the pockets of the rich.

HMP Full Sutton will be a "green prison" - operating at carbon net-zero from it's day of opening (although the enormous carbon costs of it construction is conspicuously absent from this claim). This greenwashing disguises the direct link between prisons and extractivist industries, and serves to legitimise the construction of more prisons. We must remember that all over the world, earth defenders are being locked up or killed so that the mega-corporations can continue to profit from environmental destruction. Instead of falling for this greenwashing, we must remember that we cannot achieve environmental justice without social justice.

We are not making the case that our friend is less or more deserving of prison than anyone else - we believe that no-one should be incarcerated.

Prisons are oppressive institutions which perpetuate a racist and colonial ideology. They have no place in the just futures we are trying to build.

As abolitionists, we understand that harm in society needs to be dealt with. However, we strongly feel the carceral system perpetuates harm for both perpetrators and victims and doesn't deal with societal problems. Prisons 'disappear' people, and discriminate amongst the most marginalised people in our society. In England and Wales, 13% of prisoners are Black, despite making up only 3% of the population and according to the government, and 36-39% of the adult prison place in the just futures we are trying to build.

As abolitionists, we understand that harm in society needs to be dealt with. However, we strongly feel the carceral system perpetuates harm for both perpetrators and victims and doesn't deal with societal problems. Prisons 'disappear' people, and discriminate amongst the most marginalised people in our society. In England and Wales, 13% of prisoners are Black, despite making up only 3% of the population and according to the government, and 36-39% of the adult prison population have a learning disability.

We can see how flawed and corrupt the justice system is in this country, through the ongoing fight against IPP sentences, where 3000 people remain in prison on indefinite sentences for minor crimes. IPP sentences were abolished in 2012, yet those sentences already given were not absolved retrospectively. Conditions such as these have led to the UK having one of the highest prisoner suicide rates in the world. In September 2021-2022, there were 307 deaths recorded in UK prisons - 70 of which were self-inflicted. In a similar period of time, there were almost 53,000 reported incidents of self-harm. We act in solidarity with those who have lost their lives to this system.

No one should be in prison. And no one should profit from the conditions which make prisons profitable. We are calling for an end to incarceration in all its forms - whether that be prisons, psychiatric wards, detention centres or factory farms. ABOLITION, NOW!

HS2 Rebellion 2h

Today activists blockaded the construction site for Kier's latest mega-prison HMP Full Sutton, SHUTTING DOWN THE SITE FOR A WHOLE DAY. 2 arrests have been made and a further 3 people have been charged. Full action report follow later tonight.

This action was in solidarity with Jellytot, who today spends his 131st day in prison, and other imprisoned activists from Palestine Action, Kill the Bill, BLM and Just Stop Oil.

HS2 Rebellion protesters today shut down construction of Britain's first all-electric prison in 'solidarity' with imprisoned activists and to take action against 'greenwashing'.

The group said two people were arrested and a further three charged during the demonstration, which suspended any work at HMP Full Sutton today.

Pictures show demonstrators climbing onto tripods and holding banners which read: 'Build communities not prisons'.

Police were on the scene attempting to encourage the protesters down from their posts and maintain order.

Another sign read: 'All prisoners are political'.

The action was double pronged; to stand against the construction of a new prison facility, and in solidarity with imprisoned activists.

A group spokesperson said ahead of the demonstration: 'Our friend is in prison for protesting against HS2... More and more activists in the UK are serving jail time.

'Solidarity with: Palestinian action, Kill the Bill, Black Lives Matter, Just Stop Oil and all other activists in prison.'

The construction company behind the HMP Full Sutton development, Kier, was also awarded the contract for the second stage of the beleaguered HS2.

'Kier ends here,' the HS2 Rebellion spokesperson said. 'HS2 is a £200 billion mega-project destroying 108 ancient woodlands. Kier profits from building the HS2 and prisons among other things.'

Protesters fly a banner saying Build Communities Not Prisons over the construction site

The Government earlier refused to deny the reports that HS2 might be delayed or may never reach Euston.

Delays to the high-speed rail project due soaring inflation mean the redeveloped Euston station may not open until 2038 and could be axed completely.

Phase One of HS2 involves the railway being built between London and Birmingham, with the line extended from the West Midlands to Crewe in Phase 2a.

Phase 2b will connect Crewe to Manchester and the West Midlands to the East Midlands.

Meanwhile the HMP Full Sutton development is scheduled for a 2025 opening date and will house 1,400 inmates.

The first of its kind in the UK, it will be equipped with solar panels and heat pumps is set to use 78 per cent less energy than London's HMP Wormwood Scrubs.

And while it's being advertised as a way to reduce emissions amid an energy crisis, HS2 Rebellion activists have labelled it as nothing more than 'greenwashing'.

'They do not include the environmental cost of construction. There can be no environmental justice without social justice.

'Greenwashing prisons perversely supports the prison industrial complex... Prisons create problems in society rather than solving them.

'Incarceration and policing are rooted in slavery and disproportionately target black, migrant, working class, neurodivergent groups... further marginalising vulnerable people.

'Prisons are unnecessarily cruel. We stand in solidarity with all those incarcerated.'

Protesters hold a banner in honour of a fellow HS2 protester, who was imprisoned

The group say they stand 'in solidarity with all prisoners', while holding this sign describing all prisoners as 'political'

Rising Up! was formed by activists who have also been part of Compassionate Revolution, Earth First! Occupy, Plan Stupid, Radical Think Tank and Reclaim the Power. Rising Up! is linked to Compassionate Revolution which was birthed in the Occupy movement. We seek a better more beautiful world we recognise is both necessary and possible. It is an idea, a term that can be adopted. We share a vision for change which we hope is inclusive. We offer a space that can be used for actions needing collective intent.

Technically Compassionate Revolution Limited is a company limited by shares; we have no intention of profiting from this venture. As "Directors" we gift our time to the "company" and we will run the "company" along gift-economy lines. If we need financial support for some element of the work, for example some technology changes, we may ask members to gift donations. We have incorporated because company Directors have limited liabilities - often with devastating consequences. We believe changes to the law are vital to hold company directors responsible for the activities of their companies.

As 'directors' it is our duty to uphold the mission of the Compassionate Revolution company to enable people power: in the face of the corruption of our democracy by vested interests. We understand that people may be willing to undertake acts of defiance, some of which could be illegal in the pursuit of social and environmental justice and they may wish to share their actions with others. Our site and processes are designed to support such sharing.

Activists from Extinction Rebellion are taking part in nonviolent direct actions in Birmingham, Cardiff, London and Nottingham to demand the law firm cut the ties to companies such as Esso (ExxonMobil) and High Speed 2 (HS2). These companies are actively taking part in the destruction of nature and enabling further burning of fossil fuels and Eversheds Sutherland are aiding them to continue this work uninterrupted. The protesters, as part of the Cut The Ties campaign, are demanding Eversheds cut the ties with these companies.

The action is part of the 100 days countdown to 'Unite To Survive' starting on 21 April. 100,000 people will gather at the Houses of Parliament to tell the government they have had enough of the inadequate leadership, corruption, and blatant disregard for the wellbeing of the people they are meant to serve. XR will be calling for an end to the fossil fuel era and a citizens' assembly to ensure a fair transition for people and planet.

Anti-fracking campaigners ordered to leave camp in Upton

Campaigners are issuing a call to arms for people to attend the hearing at Manchester County Court on Friday at 10.30am.

The Frack Free Upton group is also urging people to write letters to the court showing their support for the protesters, who have occupied a field at Duttons Lane since April last year.

Upton Community Protection Camp was set up as a pre-emptive move to stop oil and gas exploration company IGas drilling for coal bed methane.

Anti-fracking campaigners ordered to leave camp in Upton

The energy company has now bought the land occupied by the campaign group, and a judge will decide the camp's fate.

Frack Free Upton claims it has the support of 85 per cent of local people, saying IGas has no social licence to drill so close to houses and schools.

The closest houses are only 500 metres from the site and there are eight schools with over 3,200 pupils in total within one mile of the site, it says.

Anti-fracking campaigners ordered to leave camp in Upton

The group fears the gas extraction process could leak cancer-causing chemicals into the city's water supply and even spark earthquakes - concerns that have previously been dismissed as scaremongering by the energy company.

Last Friday, there were angry scenes at the camp as bailiffs turned up with police to attach a notice warning the protesters they were trespassing.

At the time, Upton councillor Mat Bryan said: "There has never been a more important time to support the camp. Police and bailiffs stormed the camp to deliver a notice that the land had been bought by IGas.

"There is a possession order on the land, which has been in place for more than a year and a half. That allows us the right to be on this land.

"We have a functioning community on this land. We have libraries, children go to local schools, we are nearly carbon neutral and people go out to work and pay their taxes."

A spokesman for IGas said: "We expect the protesters, having now made their point, to move on."

Surrey's Water Protectors: 3 Reasons Protesters Are Occupying Leith Hill

by Robin Ellerson 27 April 2017

Leith Hill Protection Camp is an occupation of a proposed exploratory drilling site in Bury Hill Wood, an area of natural beauty near Dorking, Surrey. For six months, and in spite of a heavy handed protest injunction and an eviction order, this area of woodland has been occupied by a group of protesters who are fighting plans for oil extraction by Europa Oil and Gas UK.

Geographical Plot of Incidents in 2022

The image shows the geographical dispersal of protestor incidents reported on HORACE in 2022

The concentration of incidents follows the entire project, with very notable gaps where major tunnels are being bored

The greater incident concentrations were on Phase One, where works habitat removal was at a more advanced stage

Phase 2a work activities were largely survey -related well in advance of habitat removal, so protestors occupied land instead

Since 2017, there have been almost 50 camps, about half being evicted and the remainder abandoned

The camps were on or as close to the line as possible to either increase cost through eviction or facilitate ease of disruption

MAPS MAPS MAPS!!!

HS2 line and safeguarded area for phase 1 and 2a drawn over OS maps.

This gives you a good idea of where HS2 are working (and how much land they are taking) whether that be for the actual track, tunnels, gas, electric, water and other utility works as well as for 'mitigation'.

Some maps overlap but I have explained which OS map each photo is of and where tunnels and major depots/stations are as well as locations of camps so that people can get their bearings. I have numbered the maps from London going north up the line (OS 192 1, 2, 3 etc)

Sometimes the blue line goes a bit wobbly (I may have had a drink while doing some of them) so trust the outlined yellow. This does not include all the areas HS2 are working or have compounds but gives a good starting point. Red line means tunnel.

Translated from HS2's safeguarding maps pages that are annoyingly chopped up and monotone so have these.

Feel free to use in whatever way you see fit, share, edit, download, whatever...

Elliott Cuciurean Thank you so much for these maps. I have been trying to get better, more informative maps from HS2 and our local council for so long, but to no avail. These are really helpful. 😊

Stop HS2 stop deforestation stop the spend save our countryside

Yesterday I headed over to Whitmore Woods with a team to follow up on reports of HS2 working on land they don't own. As well as reports of intimidation of members of the public who dared to question them. Sadly it appears to be true to an extent. HS2 have started group d investigation works which are supposed to have minimal to no impact on the surrounding areas and wildlife. Well you can clearly see below the damage HS2 have already done to this sensitive landscape. You can see there army of robots are positioned through the woods with alarms and light systems to disturb wildlife. We also have evidence of them driving heavy machinery over an active Badger set leaving huge ruts and damage.

We need help documenting this destruction and criminal behaviours

Claire G Thompson Thread 2 Jan 23

Includes Ve Ree Na Comments and Lewis Edwards Comments

The image contains two screenshots of a Facebook interface. The top screenshot shows a search result for 'stop hs2'. The main post is by Clare G Thompson, dated January 2, 2023, at 9:38 PM. The post text reads: "hs2 total waste of time and money, people who don't live anywhere near it have no idea the damage it's doing to our countryside or how inaccessible it will be to the vast majority of the population - either due to the cost of tickets or the fact that it will take them so long to get to a station where it stops that it simply won't save them any time traveling to and from london. the money being wasted on this project could be used to pay people a decent wage, those people will then spend money in shops and hospitality helping the economy to grow." The post has 215 likes, 76 comments, and 29 shares. Below the post, there are several comments. One comment by Julie Sharman says: "I've in Warwickshire, HS2 has decimated huge areas of agricultural land, torn up ancient woodlands and destroyed wildlife habitat. HS2 will be of no benefit to local people. I can get to London Euston from Coventry I just over an hour...less ti... See more". Another comment by Clare G Thompson replies to Julie Sharman: "Julie Sharman i am in warwickshire as well and totally agree with you. we will not benefit at all from hs2. it will take more time to go into birmingham than it will to get on the chiltern line and go into london. total waste of money and criminal to ... See more". A third comment by Helen Jepson says: "Julie Sharman we moved from Warwickshire to Lincolnshire couldn't stand to see the total devastation this ridiculous project is causing an absolute total waste of money". The bottom screenshot shows the 'STOP HS2' Facebook group page. The group has 12.1K members. The main content area shows a thread of comments. A comment by Marie Kraus is highlighted with a red box: "Marie Kraus how do you think we got so many people into the campaign? Where were u 4 years ago when the first camp was a year old and totally empty. Xr gave us loads of people and even more publicity. What did you do?". Other comments include: "Dominic Gauden it was green belt. Open land with trees.", "Sarah Snooks I brought cake.", "Richard J Barnes The whole project is ridiculous and I fail to see why no good journalist or program makers don't get into this project. The unaccountably and wanton waste is in every ones faces for all to see. To get to London 20 mins quicker is never going to happen anyway.", and "Brian Pethick To them a business case is something to take your sandwiches to the office in". The right sidebar shows the group's 'About' section, which is public and visible, and a list of popular topics: #ScrapHS2 (1 post), #StopTheDrill (1 post), and #juststopoil (3 posts).

I had a great camp at that exact place in Jul when there were loads of people around for most of the day. I think the trick is to not set up until after sunset when everyone has dispersed. It also helps to have a smaller pack that isn't quite so obviously for camping (e.g. no sleeping mat on the outside).

Rob Roy There are numerous problems with private law. Who gets to use it, why did the case go to Birmingham and not a Staffordshire Court, the picking of court and judge by the government to effect a favourable outcome, the ability to manipulate the court system to obtain a certain outcome its all there. That situation is then compounded by failures of other government departments and agencies to follow their own rules - more about that to come. Where is the government use of private law then. Suddenly it is absent. Does the government call itself private one moment then public the next. Do they think we haven't noticed.

Pictures from the 'Colne Valley Biteback' demonstration in Parliament Square last Monday 13th March.

New evidence shows chemicals are being used in tunnel drilling that HS2 ruled out themselves in the same aquifer, further north, as they would pollute the groundwater.

HS2 is risking contaminating the drinking water supply from the Colne Valley aquifer, putting the lives of two million Londoners at risk.

They are also polluting our waterways and further endangering the planet.

This was part of Dirty Water Wave 2:
