You can use this form to provide information to the court, who will decide whether:

- you are automatically prevented from questioning any party to the proceedings or witness in person
- any party to the proceedings is automatically prevented from questioning you in person
- questioning any party to the proceedings or witness in person, would upset you (i.e. cause you significant distress)
- being questioned by any party to the proceedings in person, would upset you (i.e. cause you significant distress)
- you would not be able to give your best evidence if any party to the proceedings were to question you in person.

If the court directs that the proceedings be listed for a hearing where oral evidence may be given, this form may need to be completed. The court will let you know if you must do so. If it does, it is very important that you complete and return this form to the court.

If the court agrees that questioning in person should not be allowed and the party who is to do the questioning does not have their own lawyer (qualified legal representative), the court may appoint one to carry out the questioning. This lawyer will not represent or act for the person in the case and they will not have to pay for them. The lawyer will only carry out the questioning.
