6 About the First-tier Tribunal which decided your case

6.1 Where was your hearing held?

Scotland Northern Ireland England/Wales

6.2 On what date did the Tribunal send the decision to you? - you will find the date on the covering letter that came with the decision

6.3 Tribunal reference number - you will find this on all correspondence from the tribunal

You should have applied to the First-tier Tribunal for permission to appeal within 56 days (Tax and Charity) or within 28 days (Land Registration) of the full written statement of the tribunal's reasons for its decision being issued.

7.1 Did the First-tier Tribunal refuse to admit your application because you were late?

- Yes
 No

Your application or appeal to the Upper Tribunal must be made so that it is received no later than one month after the date the First-tier Tribunal sent you notice of the refusal or grant of permission to appeal or the refusal to admit your application.

7.2 Has more than 1 month passed since the First-tier Tribunal sent you notice of the grant or refusal of permission to appeal or notice that your application has not been admitted?

- Yes
 No

If the answer to either of the above questions (or both) is YES please apply for an extension of time by giving your reasons for the delay in the box below.

NOTE: You must show a good reason for the Upper Tribunal to accept your application or appeal. If the First-tier Tribunal did not admit your application for permission to appeal because it was late or because you did not have a written statement of reasons it will only be admitted if the Upper Tribunal considers that it is in the interests of justice to do so. You must in all cases explain why the application was, or is being, made late. The Upper Tribunal may take into account the length of the delay and other matters such as the amount of money at stake, the potential importance of the case etc. so you can mention these reasons.

Reason for appealing

- 8.1 Please set out below what error of law you consider the Tribunal has made. If you are printing out this form to complete and you need more space, please continue on a separate piece of paper, or enclose a separate document with your reasons.

Examples of mistakes of law are:

The Tribunal did not apply the correct law or wrongly interpreted the law

The Tribunal made a procedural error

The Tribunal had no evidence, or not enough evidence to support its decision

The Tribunal did not give adequate reasons (in the written statement of its reasons)

NOTE: This is not an exhaustive list and you could believe the decision is wrong for some other reason. You should explain in as much detail as possible why the decision in your particular case is wrong in law.

Please now re-read the form and check that you have entered all the relevant information.

Once you are satisfied, please tick this box
