

Two Post available for the Pharmacovigilance Expert Advisory Group

The Commission on Human Medicines (CHM) is looking to appoint two experts to the Pharmacovigilance Expert Advisory Group (PEAG).

The PEAG advises the CHM on all aspects of pharmacovigilance for human medicines (including herbal products) and vaccines. Pharmacovigilance is the science and activities relating to the detection, assessment, understanding and prevention of adverse effects or any other medicine-related problem.

The PEAG advises the CHM on the public health importance of potential new safety signals; the confirmation of identified risks and their size and nature; how the risks should be managed including healthcare professional, patient and public communications; risk management planning for new and novel medicinal products; the design and progress of safety studies and analysis of the results; and methodologies for pharmacovigilance.

The PEAG also advises the CHM and the Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency (MHRA) on the strategic direction of the Yellow Card Scheme - the UK system for collecting and monitoring information on suspected adverse effects and medicine-related safety concerns, and provides advice to MHRA on public applications for access to Yellow Card data for scientific research.
