Data Protection Act 1998 – Fair Processing Notice

The purpose of this Fair Processing Notice is to inform you of the use that will be made of your personal data, as required by the Data Protection Act 1998.

APHA is the data controller in respect of any personal data that you provide when you complete the CERT 11 Application for a Licence for Seed Marketing Operations form.

APHA will use your personal data primarily for the purposes of ensuring compliance with the Seed Marketing Regulations and sending you information relating to the Regulations and which is relevant to your company's business.

APHA may also use your personal data where appropriate for purposes, including regulatory and enforcement functions, connected with:

- the certification of seed where the information provided is shared with APHA's technical contractor (currently the National Institute of Agricultural Botany (NIAB)) for the purposes of administering the seed certification scheme on APHA's behalf;
- information may be used by other sections of APHA for the purposes of monitoring third country imports of conventional seed varieties for adventitious GM presence – consent is obtained from those companies affected before this information is shared;
- publishing a register on its web page of all Licensed Seed Companies and their contact details;
- equivalent Government Departments in other Member States of the European Union for enforcement purposes;
- companies contracted by APHA to supply official seed labels and official sealing devices.

Data may be passed to other bodies (including the Devolved Administrations dealing with Seed Marketing in Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales) where necessary for any of the above-mentioned purposes. The data collected may also be used to provide publicly available statistics that will not identify individuals.

APHA may be required to release information, including personal data and commercial information, on request under the Environmental Information Regulations 2004 or the Freedom of Information Act 2000. However, APHA will not permit any unwarranted breach of confidentiality nor will we act in contravention of our obligations under the Data Protection Act 1998.

APHA or its appointed agents may use the name, address and other details on your application form to contact you in connection with occasional customer research aimed at improving the services that APHA provides to you.

We may use information, including personal data, to test computer systems to ensure that they work effectively and efficiently and to develop new systems in order to improve efficiency and the service that we provide to you and other persons. Any use of information for testing or developing computerised systems will be conducted in a secure manner in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998 to safeguard the privacy of the information that you have supplied.

Defra's Personal Information Charter, which gives details of your rights in respect of the handling of your personal data, is on the Defra section of Gov.uk

If you believe that any of the information we hold concerning you is incorrect or out of date, please provide us with the accurate information in writing together with supporting evidence (if appropriate).
