To Whom It May Concern:

Dual Nationality

Dual citizenship (also known as dual nationality) is allowed in the United Kingdom. This means a British citizen can also be a citizen of other countries.

The British High Commission confirms that a British citizen, of whatever age, who acquires the nationality or citizenship of another country is not required under UK law to renounce their British Citizenship, nor is their British Citizenship lost automatically or revoked on acquiring the nationality or citizenship of another country.

As such, the British High Commission does not provide personalised letters to individual British citizens that the United Kingdom Government has no objection to them acquiring another nationality.

Yours faithfully
