Dear [REDACTED]

RE: Request for Information – RFI4649

Thank you for your request for information which was processed in accordance with the Freedom of Information Act 2000 (FOIA).

You requested the following information:

I would like to receive updated information in connection with the data you have provided under FOI request reference RFI4471.

Can you please provide the same table for redemptions that took place from 1st September 2023 (disposal date) until the latest redemption.

In case there are partial redemptions, kindly add a column in the table for the percentage share for partial redemptions

Response

We can inform you that we do hold the information that you have requested. However, we rely on section 22, exemption where information is intended for future publication under the FOIA.

The full text of the legislation can be found on the following link and we have quoted section 22 below for ease.

Section 22 - Information intended for future publication.

(1) Information is exempt information if:

- (a) the information is held by the public authority with a view to its publication, by the authority or any other person, at some future date (whether determined or not),
- (b) the information was already held with a view to such publication at the time when the request for information was made, and
- (c) it is reasonable in all the circumstances that the information should be withheld from disclosure until the date referred to in paragraph (a).

(2) The duty to confirm or deny does not arise if, or to the extent that, compliance with section 1(1)(a) would involve the disclosure of any information (whether or not already recorded) which falls within subsection (1).

Section 22 is a qualified exemption. This means that in order to withhold information under this exemption, we must consider the public interest in disclosure.

Public Interest Test – Factors in favour of disclosure

- Homes England is compliant with the government agenda of transparency and recognises the benefit of publishing the information, particularly when it concerns how Homes England undertakes its work.

Public Interest Test – Factors in favour of non-disclosure

- The information will be publicly available in Homes England's Annual Reports and Financial Statements which are published annually. It is reasonable that a public authority does not divert resources where the information is readily available to the public. To disclose information via FOIA that is available on our main gov.uk site would increase the likelihood of future requests being made under FOIA for similar publicly available information. This would divert resources away from requests for information that would not otherwise already be in the public domain. This would cause detriment to Homes England's ability to promptly deal with requests under FOIA.

Therefore, after careful consideration we have concluded that at this time, the balance of the public interest favours the non-disclosure.

Advice and Assistance

In compliance with the Section 45 Code of Practice (Paragraph 14) and to offer advice and assistance under section 16 of the FOIA we can advise the information will be in Homes England's Annual Reports & Financial Statements 2023/24 which is expected to be published in July 2024.

It will be available via the following link: <https://www.gov.uk/government/collections/homes-englands-annual-reports-financial-statements>

Please be aware that the already published information and information due to be published in July 2024 will only contain information relating to full redemptions.

Right to Appeal

If you are not happy with the information that has been provided or the way in which your request has been handled, you may request an internal review. You can request an internal review by writing to Homes England via the details below, quoting the reference number at the top of this letter.
