FULL REASONS

REASONS

Background

1. By way of an RR1 application dated 12 October 2023, the landlord made an application for rent re-registration of a fair rent to the Rent Officer. The previous rent was determined by the Rent Officer on 20 March 2020 at £120.00 per week.
2. On 16 November 2023 the Rent Officer registered a fair rent of £161.50 per week with effect from 16 November 2023.
3. By way of a letter dated 7 December 2023, the tenant objected to that rent and subsequently the Valuation Officer wrote to the Tribunal seeking a review of the rent registration.
4. On 4 March 2024 the Tribunal issued Directions to the parties requiring them to produce any evidence on which they wished to rely in support of their respective cases, including by use of a reply form. The matter was set down for a determination on the papers, unless either party requested a Hearing, which neither did. The landlord was directed to return the reply form with any other documents upon which it wished to rely by 18 March 2024. The tenant was directed to do likewise by 1 April 2024 with the landlord given the opportunity to respond by 8 April 2024.
5. On 30 April 2024, on the basis of papers and without Hearing, the Tribunal determined the fair rent of the above property at £217.00 per week.

The Law

6. When determining a fair rent, the Tribunal, in accordance with the Rent Act 1977, Section 70, had regard to all circumstances (other than personal circumstances) including the age, location and state of repair of the property. Section 70 is set out in the Appendix below.
7. In Spath Home Ltd v Chairman of the Greater Manchester, etc Tribunal (1995) 28 HLR 107 and Curtis v London Rent Assess Tribunal (1999) QB 92 the Court of Appeal emphasised that ordinarily a fair rent is the market rent for the property discounted for “scarcity” (i.e. that element, if any, of the market rent that is attributable to there being a significant shortage of similar properties in the wider locality available for letting on similar terms – other than as to rent – to that of the regulated tenancy) and that for the purpose of determining the market rent, assured tenancy (market) rents are usually appropriate comparable

(these rents may have to be adjusted where necessary to reflect any relevant differences between those comparables and the subject property).

The Property

8. From Google Maps and information included on the Rent Register, the Tribunal found as follows:

The property comprises a first floor self-contained two bedroom maisonette benefitting from full central heating and a garden.

The property is believed to have been constructed circa 1900 and is constructed of brick under a pitched roof and fronting Whiteley Road.

The property is located in a typical suburban location close to transport and shopping facilities.

Valuation

9. From Spath Home Ltd v Chairman of the Greater Manchester etc Tribunal other registered rents are not relevant as a starting point because they are not market rents.
10. The Tribunal must first determine the market rent for a property of this size, in this location and in its current condition. It must also disregard the personal circumstances of either party. The Tribunal notes that the Rent Officer adopted a starting point of £369.23 per week. The tribunal is of the opinion that the open market rental value of the property is £390.00 per week.
11. However, all white goods, carpets and curtains are presumed to be the property of the tenant. In addition, a tenant of a Rent Act property has more onerous repairing obligations than those under an assured shorthold tenancy.
12. The Tribunal, therefore, made the following deductions from the market rent of £390.00 per week to reflect those differences ignoring the addition to rental value of any tenant's improvements:

Market Rent: £390.00 per week

Less: 10% for more onerous tenancy terms compared to that of an assured shorthold tenancy.

Less: 4% for the tenant's provision of carpets and curtains.

Less: 2% for the provision of white goods.

This aggregated to 16% or £62.40 per week leaving a net rent of £327.60 per week.

13. The Tribunal found that there was substantial scarcity in the locality of Greater London having taken judicial notice of long Housing Association and Local Authority waiting lists in Greater London. It, therefore, made deduction in respect of scarcity of 20% (£65.52 per week) from the adjusted market rent to reflect this element. This left an adjusted rent of £262.08 per week.
14. The Tribunal is then required to apply the Rent Act (Maximum Fair Rent) Order 1999. The calculation was included on the Decision sheet and produced a maximum fair rent of £217.00 per week.
15. The Tribunal must register the lower of the adjusted market rent or maximum fair rent as the fair rent for the property. In this instance, the maximum fair rent produces a lower figure and the Tribunal, therefore, registered the rent at £217.00 per week for this property with effect from 30 April 2024 being the date of the Tribunal Decision.

ANNEX – RIGHTS OF APPEAL

By Rule 36(2) of the Tribunal procedure, (First-tier Tribunal) (Property Chamber) Rules 2013 the Tribunal is required to notify the parties about any right of appeal they might have.

If a party wishes to appeal this decision to the Upper Tribunal (Lands Chamber), then a written application for permission must be made to the First-tier Tribunal at the regional office which has been dealing with this case

The application for permission to appeal must arrive at the regional office within 28 days after the Tribunal sends written reasons for the Decision to the person making the application.

If the application is not made within the 28 day time limit, such application must include a request for an extension of time and the reason for not complying with the 28 day time limit; the Tribunal will then look at such reason(s) and decide whether to allow the application for permission to appeal to proceed, despite not being within the time limit.

The application for permission to appeal must identify the decision of the Tribunal to which it relates (i.e. give the date, the property, and the case number), state the grounds of appeal and state the result the party making the application is seeking. Any appeal in respect of the Housing Act 1988 should be on a point of law.

If the Tribunal refuses to grant permission to appeal, a further application for permission may be made to the Upper Tribunal (Lands Chamber).

APPENDIX

Rent Act 1977

Section 70 Determination of Fair Rent

- (1) In determining, for the purpose of this part of this Act, what rent is or would be a fair rent under a regulated tenancy of a dwellinghouse, regard shall be had to all the circumstances (other than personal circumstances) and, in particular, to –
  - (a) the age, character, locality and state of repair of the dwellinghouse...F1
  - (b) if any furniture is provided for use under the tenancy, the quantity, quality and condition of the furniture (F2 and)
  - (c) (F2(c)) any premium, or sum in the nature of a premium, which has been or may be lawfully required or received on the grant, renewal, continuance or assignment of the tenancy)

- (2) For the purpose of the determination, it shall be assumed that the number of persons seeking to become tenants of similar dwelling-houses in the locality on the terms (other than those relating to rent) of the regulated tenancy is not substantially greater than the number of such dwelling-houses in the locality which are available for letting on such terms.

- (3) There shall be disregarded:
  - (a) any disrepair or other defect attributable to a failure by the tenant under the regulated tenancy or any predecessor in title of his to comply with any terms thereof;
  - (b) any improvement carried out, otherwise than in pursuance of the terms of the tenancy; by the tenant under the regulated tenancy or any predecessor in title of his;
  - (c) (d).....F3
  - (d) If any furniture is provided for use under the regulated tenancy, any improvement to the furniture by the tenant under the regulated tenancy or any predecessor in title of theirs or, as the case may be, any deterioration
