Section 4 About your course and university or college

b Course name

If the new course details you give us can't be confirmed yet, your student funding may be delayed.

If you're not sure if your course is an approved Higher Technical Qualification, speak to your university or college. Certain Level 4 and 5 courses that are not approved Higher Technical Qualifications cannot attract Higher Education student finance, therefore, you won't be eligible for Tuition Fee Loan, Maintenance Loan, Grants for Dependents, or Disabled Students' Allowance. You may instead be eligible for Advanced Learner Loan. Go to www.gov.uk/advanced-learner-loan to find out more.

Note, not all approved Higher Technical Qualifications will qualify for Higher Education student finance and you may instead be eligible for Advanced Learner Loan. For more information speak to your university or college..

Course length

If you're studying part-time and want to apply for DSA you must meet one of the following:

If you started your part-time course before 1 September 2012, you must be planning to complete your course in no more than twice the time it would take you to finish it if you were studying full-time. For example, if the course you are studying takes 3 years to complete on a full-time basis, you must complete it in no more than 6 years studying part-time.

If you start your part-time course on or after 1 September 2012, you must be planning to complete your course in no more than four times the time it would take you to finish it if you were studying full-time in order to receive support. For example, if the course you are studying takes 3 years to complete on a full-time basis, you must complete it in no more than 12 years studying part-time.

Notes

The Equality Act 2010 has made it illegal for universities and colleges to discriminate against disabled students by treating them less favourably in their admissions policies or the services they provide. Under the Act, universities and colleges must make reasonable adjustments so that disabled students are not at a substantial disadvantage compared with other students who are not disabled.

This means that you can tell your university or college about your disability, mental health condition or specific learning difficulty in complete confidence to make sure that you receive the support you need. However, if you do not want to tell your university or college, you should include a letter explaining why you did not want to pass the form to your university or college to complete this section. You should also include a university acceptance letter or similar confirming you've been accepted onto the course.
