JUDGMENT

The claim for notice pay

1. Although I would have found that the respondent breached the claimant's contract in failing to give notice of termination (in the circumstances in which the claimant was entitled to one week's notice), this claim is dismissed as it was brought out of time.

The claims for holiday pay and expenses

2. By consent, the respondent is ordered to pay the claimant the gross amount of £346.50. This payment will be made today.
