

The Rule Book of Empower The Workers' Union

Revision 19th June 2023

The inaugural assembly of Empower The Workers' Union decreed by overwhelming and unanimous consent to:

1. Join together as workers to pursue, collectively, the principal aim of regulating the relations between ourselves, as workers and employers and employers' associations.
2. That our organisation will be a trade union within the statutory meaning of "trade union" as set out in the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 and that it shall be so considered from the moment of adoption of these principles and the commencement if its activity in pursuance of these aims.

"1Meaning of "trade union".

In this Act a "trade union" means an organisation (whether temporary or permanent)—

(a)which consists wholly or mainly of workers of one or more descriptions and whose principal purposes include the regulation of relations between workers of that description or those descriptions and employers or employers' associations; "

3. Henceforth referred to as "the Union", Empower the Workers' Union shall be a democratic and collective organisation with all members having an equal say in the direction and running of this union with equality and fairness at its core.
4. The aims of the union, established at inauguration are as follows:
 - a) The Union takes to its heart that Employers and workers are not equal and that regulation of the employment contract necessitates the collective action and bargaining of employees in order to redress this imbalance. Regulation is therefore, to us, empowering workers to demand better conditions, pay and treatment from the hands of the employers.
 - b) The union shall seek to recruit workers to the trade union movement and to realise their potential as workers to a greater claim of the wealth that they create; through a commitment to organising workers to act collectively in the regulation of the employment contract and will support other trade unions and organisations that share our aims.
 - c) The Union, each and every member, will defend each other from injustice enacted by employers in solidarity by standing side by side with our fellow members; be it through representation, negotiation or any other lawful action.

- d) The union will have at its heart condemnation of injustice, hate and discrimination in all its forms and will play its part in the unending struggle against these evils of our society. Be that in work or in our larger society.
 - e) The union shall aim, at every point, to increase democracy within its organisation in the knowledge that democracy is the greatest attribute of a workers' union.
5. The aims (4) of the union, will be subject to alteration and adaptation by the process outlined below:
- All members, including the executive committee may, at any time, propose a change to the wording of the aims of the Union, or propose to alter the aims or to add or remove aims, by submitting a motion to that effect to the President not less than 1 month before the Annual General Meeting.

Approval shall be by majority at the meeting provided that the number of members voting in favour number no less than 1% of the membership or 8 members, whichever number is greater.
6. The rules, within the rulebook, will be subject to change and adaptation by the process outlined below:
- All members, including the executive committee may, at any time, propose a change to rules of the Union by submitting a motion to that effect to the president not less than 1 week before the Annual General Meeting.
