About Bereavement Support Payment

Bereavement Support Payment gives financial support to people for a period after the death of a partner.

We refer to the person who has died as 'your late partner'. By this we mean either your husband, wife, civil partner, or partner that you lived with as if you were married to them.

What you will get

There are 2 different rates of Bereavement Support Payment.

Standard rate

You may be able to get a lump-sum payment of £2,500 followed by up to 18 monthly payments of £100.

Higher rate

If you were responsible for a child under the age of 20 or expecting a child at the time your late partner died you could get a lump-sum payment of £3,500 followed by up to 18 monthly payments of £350.

Your claim for Bereavement Support Payment

To make sure you get your payment as soon as possible:

- answer all the questions on this form that apply to you and your late partner
- send us all the documents we ask for.

If you cannot send us all the documents straight away, still send your claim form in now.

Before you start

To apply you will need:

- the date your late partner died
- your late partner's National Insurance number
- your National Insurance number
- your bank details
- your marriage or civil partnership certificate, if you have one.

How we pay you

Bereavement Support Payment is paid monthly.

We will pay your money into an account.

Many banks and building societies will let you collect your money at the post office.

We will tell you when we make the first payment and how much it will be for. We will tell you if the amount we pay into the account is going to change.

Finding out how much we have paid into the account

You can check your payments on account statements. The statements may show your your National Insurance number next to any payments we have made. If you think a payment is wrong, get in touch with us straight away.

If we pay you too much money

We have the right to take back any money we pay that you should not have got. This may be because of the way the system works for payments into an account.

For example, you may give us some information, which means you are entitled to less money. Sometimes we may not be able to change the amount we have already paid you. This means we will have paid you money that you should not have got.

We will contact you before we take back any money.

What to do now

- Tell us about the account you want to use on the next page. By giving us your account details, you:
 - agree that we will pay you into an account, and
 - understand what we have told you above, in the section If we pay you too much money
- If you are going to open an account, tell us your account details as soon as you get them
- If you do not have an account, please contact us and we will give you more information.

About the account you want to use

- You can use an account in your name, or a joint account.
- You can use someone else's account if:
 - the terms and conditions of their account allow this, and
 - they agree to let you use their account, and
 - you are sure they will use your money in the way you tell them.
- You can use a credit union account. You must tell us the credit union's account details. Your credit union will be able to help you with this
- If you are an appointee or a legal representative acting on behalf of the customer, the account should be in your name only.

Tell us your account details below.

It is very important you fill in all the boxes correctly, including the building society roll or reference number, if you have one. If you tell us the wrong account details, your payment may be delayed or you may lose money.

You can find the account details on your bank statements or chequebook. If you do not know the account details, ask the bank or building society.

28 Name of the account holder

Exactly as it is shown on the statement or chequebook.

29 Name of the bank or building society

30 Sort code

Tell us all 6 numbers, for example 12-23-56.

31 Account number

This must be between 6 and 10 numbers.

32 Building society roll or reference number

You may get other benefits and entitlements we do not pay into an account.
If you want us to pay them into the account above, please tick this box.
