Vehicle Mileage Data

Mileage data is primarily used for companies to provide mileage check services to the public and the motoring industry. This service provides the Vehicle Registration Number, the mileage reading to the nearest 1,000 miles as notified to us, the date we were notified and how we were notified.

The data is released under the provision of Regulation 27 of the Road Vehicle (Registration and Licensing) Regulations 2002. In this context, the agency is prepared to release data in bulk to underpin vehicle check databases which the public and others may refer to. To improve road safety, aid consumer protection and to deter vehicle theft. Companies who wish to apply for the data must be able to demonstrate reasonable cause.

The data is provided in a text file, sent daily by email.

The mileage is captured through some online notifications, V5C registration certificates and applications for a registration certificate (V62).

Alternatively, you may be able to get the data you need from one of the companies we currently supply data to.

Please contact them directly for information on products and prices.
