Carer's Allowance is a benefit for people who provide regular and substantial care to a disabled person for at least 35 hours a week, and meet certain eligibility criteria.

The quickest and easiest way to claim Carer's Allowance is online. Check if you can get Carer's Allowance and make a claim at www.gov.uk/carers-allowance

If you live in Scotland you need to claim Carer Support Payment. For more information about Carer Support Payment, please visit www.mygov.scot/benefits

About this form

- use this form to claim Carer's Allowance
- check if you can get Carer's Allowance by using the checklist in the notes booklet. If you cannot get Carer's Allowance, go to www.gov.uk/browse/benefits to see what other help you might be able to get
- you, the carer, must fill in this form, not the person you provide care for
- please fill in this form carefully. If you fill in this form using a pen, use black ink and CAPITAL LETTERS
- please answer all the questions and send us all the documents we ask for
- contact us if you cannot fill in this form or send us the documents we ask for, because this might delay your claim
- if you have speech or hearing difficulties, you can contact us by textphone on 0800 731 5312. The textphone service does not receive messages from mobile phones.

Normally, you can expect us to get back to you within 6 weeks. This may change at busy times of the year.

Remember

If someone else also cares for the same person as you, only one of you can claim a carer's benefit. This could be Carer's Allowance, Carer Support Payment or, for those in receipt of Universal Credit, an extra amount for caring for someone.

If you both meet the criteria, you must try to decide between you who will claim. If you cannot decide on who this should be, the DWP will make the decision.

When you get Carer's Allowance, the person you provide care for will usually stop getting:

- a severe disability premium paid with their benefits
- an extra amount for severe disability paid with Pension Credit.

They might also stop getting reduced Council Tax.

We will check the record of the person you provide care for before making a decision on your claim.

How we pay you

We pay Carer's Allowance into a bank account.

If you do not give us details of a bank account you can use, we cannot pay Carer's Allowance even if you are entitled to it.

Finding out how much we have paid into the account

You can check your payments on account statements. The statements may show your National Insurance number next to any payments we have made. If you think a payment is wrong, get in touch with us straight away.

If we pay you too much money

We have the right to take back any money we pay that you are not entitled to. This may be because of the way the system works for payments into an account.

For example, you may give us some information, which means you are entitled to less money. Sometimes we may not be able to change the amount we have already paid you. This means we will have paid you money that you are not entitled to. We will contact you before we take back any money.

About paying you

Tell us your account details.

It is very important you fill in the boxes correctly, including the building society roll or reference number, if you have one. If you do not give us your account details or give us the wrong details, your payment may be delayed or you may lose money.

- You can find the account details on your bank card or statements. If you do not know the account details, ask the bank or building society.
- If you are going to open an account, fill in and return this form straight away and tell us your account details as soon as you can.

- If you are an appointee or a legal representative acting on behalf of the claimant, the account should be in your name only.
- You can use someone else's account if:
 - the terms and conditions of their account allow this
 - they agree to let you use their account, and
 - you are sure they will use your money in the way you tell them.

Tell us about the account you want to use.

By giving us your account details, you:

- agree that we will pay you into an account and
- understand what we have told you in the section "If we pay you too much money"
- if you do not have an account, please contact us and we will give you more information.
