Foreword

The NDA has a unique legal duty to have regard for the impact of our activities on communities living near our sites as we progress our decommissioning mission safely, securely and cost effectively.

In April 2024, we published our updated Social Impact and Communities Strategy. This strategy explains how we work collaboratively to deliver the maximum positive social impact as we progress our mission. Over the last five years, we have invested over £60 million of direct socio-economic funding across the UK, leveraging millions of pounds of further investment from partners, to support significant projects that enable permanent and sustainable change in our site communities.

In 2024/25, the NDA and our operating companies invested £14.13 million of direct socio-economic grant funding towards projects being delivered in our communities including grants to external organisations. This report details how and where this money has been invested, including case studies reflecting how we work with our stakeholders and partners to use our funding to maximum effect.

Our social impact work is based upon the priorities identified in our strategy, the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals and independently produced economic impact assessments that illustrate the economic value of our sites to their local communities.

The NDA believes that decommissioning activities should benefit local communities and that we must provide a positive legacy once our work is completed.

We are immensely proud of our work with local communities to date and are very ambitious to make further progress.

Jamie Reed

Director of Socio-economics

The NDA Social Impact and Communities Strategy

The NDA is the executive non-departmental government body charged with decommissioning the UK's earliest nuclear sites safely, securely and cost effectively. We do this work with care for our people, communities, and the environment, with safety, as always, our number one priority.

The NDA Social Impact and Communities Strategy (2024) flows from the Energy Act (2004) that provides the NDA with a unique legal duty to have regard for the impact of our activities on communities living near our sites, as well as the wider responsibilities all public bodies have under the Social Value Act (2012).

The strategy sets out how we go about delivering the maximum positive social impact from the significant public investment made in our mission each year. The NDA aims to carry out decommissioning in a way which generates maximum benefit for local communities, whilst developing the required capabilities for future mission delivery and providing a positive legacy during and upon completion of our work. This is primarily done through a programme of grant giving which is administered in collaboration with each of our operating companies and through which the NDA group invested over £14m in 2024/25 into projects in communities near to our sites.

Strategic themes and objectives

The Social Impact and Communities Strategy aims to deliver against the following six strategic themes:

- Resilient economies – enabling and supporting the conditions for local economic output, improved productivity, and growth.
- Thriving communities – enabling and supporting the conditions for social cohesion, supporting disadvantaged groups and other social benefits.
- Sustainable incomes – improving aspirations and access to work through a programme of high impact education, skills, personal development and employability support activities.
- Sustainable growth – reflecting the importance of the climate agenda and working to achieve economic, social and competitive advantage for our nuclear communities by integrating sustainable growth into our socio-economic interventions.
- Social value chains – working closely with our suppliers to create social impacts with our supply chain.
- Collective impact – leveraging social impact and investment by working with our stakeholders, partners and communities to practice an integrated approach and culture of delivery.

Our intention is that through application of our strategy and through close working with our partner organisations and communities we can achieve the following:

- Optimum allocation of the NDA group socio economic budgets.
- A pipeline of high-quality projects of different types and values.
- Transparency of decision making supported by evidence.
- Demonstrable delivery progress and measurable social impact.
- Evidence of 'adding value' including maximising on 3rd party funding where possible.

Evidence and analysis

Most of the NDA's sites are in coastal, rural and relatively remote locations. We are a significant employer in many of these communities and in some we are the largest. All of our sites have quantifiable yet varying impacts on their local economy.

Our understanding of these sites is underpinned by research into the social and economic impact of our activities on the communities near our sites. These include:

- The economic contribution of the NDA to the West Cumbria economy, April 2022 - GOV.UK
- Economic impact assessment of Magnox sites, May 2022 - GOV.UK – relates to the former Magnox sites which are now managed by Nuclear Restoration Services.
- Dounreay socio-economic report - GOV.UK

These studies allow us to estimate the importance of our sites in terms of employment and wider economic impact. They also give insight into how strong each local economy is and how dependent the local community is on our sites. We will refresh this important evidence base and aim to publish the updated findings before the end of the 2025/26 financial year.

The Social Impact and Communities Strategy and underpinning evidence help us to make well informed decisions in relation to our grant programme.

A series of video case studies is being produced to highlight the impact of some of our investments. These will be added to throughout the year and can be found on the NDA Working with Our Communities website.
