Hepatitis A vaccination:

What you need to know if you're travelling outside the UK

Going somewhere familiar outside the UK? Hepatitis A virus may be more common in that country. You and your child may not be protected against this virus. You can speak to your health professional about how to get the free hepatitis A vaccine so you are protected before your trip.

How to get the hepatitis A vaccine

- speak to your health professional about getting the hepatitis A vaccine if you plan on travelling abroad
- if you do not have a health professional at the moment, call the NHS on 111 to ask them how to get your hepatitis A vaccine from a GP
