Terms used in this report

Academies are independent state schools that are directly funded by the DfE.

Every academy is required to be part of an academy trust (AT), which is a charity and company limited by guarantee. Every academy trust enters into a funding agreement with the Secretary of State for Education that sets out the requirements for individual academies and the conditions under which grants are paid.

There are several different types of academies, providing a range of academic provision.

Type of academy	Description
Sponsored	Sponsored academies are usually under-performing schools prior to converting to academy status. They are run via an AT by sponsors - which may include high-performing schools and colleges, universities, individual philanthropists, businesses, the voluntary sector and faith communities.
Converter	Converter academies are usually strongly performing schools, or schools on an upward performance trajectory, prior to converting to academy status.
Free Schools	Free schools, which are a type of academy, are brand new state-funded schools. Any suitable sponsor - including local parents, private businesses and ATs - can apply to the Secretary of State for Education to open a free school. In addition, where a LA identifies a need for a new school in its area, it must seek proposals to establish a free school. For the purposes of this report, statistics relating to free schools will include information relating to university technical colleges and studio schools, but not new schools established by LAs.
University Technical Colleges	University Technical Colleges (UTCs) are academies for students aged 13/14 to 19 years old, which focus on delivering technical education that engages young people and seek to meet the needs of modern business. They offer technical courses and work-related learning, combined with academic studies. Each UTC involves a university and a lead employer as well as other local employers and education partners such as FE Colleges. Each UTC specialises in one or two curriculum areas, typically some form of STEM subject, which is informed by local employer needs.

City Technology Colleges	City technology colleges (CTCs) and 'the city college for the technology of the arts' are independent schools in urban areas that are free to go to. They are funded by central government - companies can also contribute.
Studio Schools	Studio schools are academies for students aged 13/14 to 19 years old, which focus on delivering practical skills in workplace environments alongside offering traditional vocational and academic courses. They are small schools for around 300 students, and are sponsored by existing schools, colleges and community groups. They also have close links to local employers. They are open year-round, and have a 9am-5pm working day.

Type of provision	Description
Primary	Provision broadly aimed at pupils aged 5-11 (more precisely, pupils of compulsory school age who have not yet attained the age of 10 years 6 months).
Secondary	Provision broadly aimed at pupils aged 11-16 (more precisely, pupils of compulsory school age who have attained the age of 10 years 6 months).
16 – 19	Provision aimed at pupils aged 16-19. For the purposes of this report, statistics relating to 16-19 provision will be included within those for secondary schools, unless otherwise specified.
All through	Provision covering both primary and secondary phases. For the purposes of this report, statistics relating to all through provision will be included within those for secondary schools.
Special	Provision aimed at meeting the requirements of pupils with SEND.
Alternative Provision (AP)	Provision aimed at vulnerable pupils, such as excluded pupils, children with behavioural issues, those with a short-term or long-

Type of provision	Description

Type of trust	Description
Trust	A trust is the legal entity with which the Department has the funding relationship and is responsible for the production of statutory returns such as an ARA
Single Academy Trust (SAT)	The legal entity set up to run a single academy
Multi Academy Trust (MAT)	The legal entity set up to run a group of more than one academy

Annex E – Remuneration in excess of £150,000

This table presents a list of Academy Trusts which have disclosed that at least one member of staff (including any members of staff who are additionally trustees but paid as a member of staff) was paid in excess of £150,000 for 2023/24.

Annex F – Trusts in receipt of additional financial support

This annex provides information about the financial support the ESFA provided to academy trusts in 2023/24.

Trusts received support for different reasons and inclusion on this list cannot be taken as an indication of their past or current financial health. These reasons are listed in the table and correspond to our published framework for financial support for academy trusts.

(Source: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/financial-support-for-academy-trusts-in-financial-difficulty>)

For the 'facilitating transfer' framework category, the table details whether academy transfers related to an academy/academies joining the trust (transfer in), or an academy/academies leaving the trust (transfer out).

Each decision to provide funding was and is made on a case-by-case basis, taking into account the governance, financial and educational circumstances of the trusts involved and the best interests of pupils.

Annex I - HM Treasury Accounts Direction

ACCOUNTS DIRECTION GIVEN BY HM TREASURY IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE AGREED REPORTING FRAMEWORK FOR ACADEMY TRUST SCHOOLS

1. This Direction applies to the Department for Education in respect of the preparation of a set of consolidated academy accounts (known as the “Sector Annual Report and Accounts” or “SARA”) for academy trust schools¹.
2. The SARA must be produced in accordance with the Chief Secretary to the Treasury’s letter to the Secretary of State for Education dated 10 March 2015.
3. The Department for Education shall prepare the SARA for the academic year ending 31 August 2024 consolidating all academy trusts which were open during that year. The SARA shall be prepared in accordance with the accounting principles and disclosure requirements of the edition of the Government Financial Reporting Manual issued by HM Treasury (“the FReM”) which is in force for the relevant financial year. Specific disclosure requirements need not be satisfied if the information is not material.
4. The SARA shall be prepared so as to:
 - (a) give a true and fair view of the state of affairs as at 31 August, of the income and expenditure, changes in taxpayers’ equity and cash flows of the sector of academy trust schools taken as a whole; and
 - (b) provide disclosure of any material expenditure or income that has not been applied to the purposes intended by Parliament or material transactions that have not conformed to the authorities which govern them
5. The Performance Report, the Accountability Report and the Statement of Financial Position² shall be signed and dated by the Principal Accounting Officer of the Department for Education.

¹ In this direction, “academy trust school” means, “an independent educational institution that is publicly funded by central government directly (rather than through a local authority) and run by a charitable company, subject to a funding agreement with the Secretary of State for Education.”

² In accordance with the FReM requirement to produce a Performance Report, Accountability Report and Statement of Financial Position.

6. The Accountability Report will include additional information in the form of a “grant tracker” (as set out below), which reconciles the grant income reported by academy trust schools in the academic year to grants paid by the Department for Education in the financial year to 31 March. A grant tracker will be prepared for capital grants and another for revenue grants. Amendments to the format of the grant tracker should be agreed with the National Audit Office.
7. Compliance with the requirements of the FReM will, in all but exceptional circumstances, be necessary for the accounts to give a true and fair view. If, in these exceptional circumstances, compliance with the requirements of the FReM is inconsistent with the requirement to give a true and fair view, the requirements of the FReM should be departed from only to the extent necessary to give a true and fair view. In such cases, informed and unbiased judgement should be used to devise an appropriate alternative treatment which should be consistent with both the economic characteristics of the circumstances concerned and the spirit of the FReM. Any material departure from the FReM should be discussed in the first instance with HM Treasury.
8. The Accounts Direction for year ending 31 August 2024 shall include all derogations set out below with the understanding that, as discussed between HM Treasury and The Department for Education, the following conditions apply:

Remote contingent liabilities – Until such a time that one component of the accounting group becomes material to the accounts, systematic component data collection on remote contingent liabilities and the disclosures of them will not be required. HMT and DfE will reassess this derogation if one academy trust does become material to the sector annual report and accounts. SARA will direct the document user to DfE group accounts in the case of identified and disclosed pervasive remote contingent liabilities that impact the sector.

Fair pay disclosures - Until such a time that remuneration policy is no longer controlled on an individual academy trust basis, disclosure of fair pay multiples will not be required.

Details of off-payroll engagements – progress towards collection and disclosure.

Environmental and sustainability disclosures – continued justification of a derogation on these disclosures can only be accepted if evidence of progress toward collecting & reporting on sustainability issues in line with emerging HM Treasury guidance for the public sector can be provided, preferably in the form of a project plan agreed between DfE Finance and DfE sustainability and climate change team. Should no evidence be provided then HMT reserve the right to review DfE's delegated authority limits on an annual basis.

Terms used in this report

Academies are independent state schools that are directly funded by the DfE.

Every academy is required to be part of an academy trust, which is a charity and company limited by guarantee. Every academy trust enters into a funding agreement with the Secretary of State for Education that sets out the requirements for individual academies and the conditions under which grants are paid.

There are several different types of academies, providing a range of academic provision.

Type of academy	Description
Sponsored	Sponsored academies are usually under-performing schools prior to converting to academy status. They are run via an AT by sponsors - which may include high-performing schools and colleges, universities, individual philanthropists, businesses, the voluntary sector and faith communities.
Converter	Converter academies are usually strongly performing schools, or schools on an upward performance trajectory, prior to converting to academy status.
Free Schools	Free schools, which are a type of academy, are brand new state-funded schools. Any suitable sponsor - including local parents, private businesses and ATs - can apply to the Secretary of State for Education to open a free school. In addition, where a LA identifies a need for a new school in its area, it must seek proposals to establish a free school. For the purposes of this report, statistics relating to free schools will include information relating to university technical colleges and studio schools, but not new schools established by LAs.
University Technical Colleges	University Technical Colleges (UTCs) are academies for students aged 13/14 to 19 years old, which focus on delivering technical education that engages young people and seek to meet the needs of modern business. They offer technical courses and work-related learning, combined with academic studies. Each UTC involves a university and a lead employer as well as other local employers and education partners such as FE Colleges. Each UTC specialises in one or two curriculum areas, typically

City Technology Colleges	City technology colleges (CTCs) and 'the city college for the technology of the arts' are independent schools in urban areas that are free to go to. They are funded by central government - companies can also contribute.
Studio Schools	Studio schools are academies for students aged 13/14 to 19 years old, which focus on delivering practical skills in workplace environments alongside offering traditional vocational and academic courses. They are small schools for around 300 students, and are sponsored by existing schools, colleges and community groups. They also have close links to local employers. They are open year-round and have a 9am-5pm working day.

Type of provision	Description
Primary	Provision broadly aimed at pupils aged 5-11 (more precisely, pupils of compulsory school age who have not yet attained the age of 10 years 6 months).
Secondary	Provision broadly aimed at pupils aged 11-16 (more precisely, pupils of compulsory school age who have attained the age of 10 years 6 months).
16 – 19	Provision aimed at pupils aged 16-19. For the purposes of this report, statistics relating to 16-19 provision will be included within those for secondary schools, unless otherwise specified.

Alternative Provision (AP)	Provision aimed at vulnerable pupils, such as excluded pupils, children with behavioural issues, those with a short-term or long-
