Grenfell Tower ninth anniversary

The Grenfell community is preparing to commemorate the ninth anniversary of the tragedy on 14 June. We remain committed to supporting bereaved families, survivors and the wider community at this time. As a mark of respect, work at the Tower will pause from lunchtime on Friday 12 June and will not resume until Tuesday 16 June. There will be additional lighting at the Tower to mark this important date. Due to ongoing works, it will not be possible to access the Grenfell Tower site during this year's anniversary commemorations.

Grenfell heart banners

The Grenfell heart banners will be in place for the ninth anniversary of the tragedy. Following the anniversary, we will start to carefully remove the banners from the Tower and store them safely. We recognise that the Tower will look different, and that the banners are meaningful to many people. Please get in touch with us at the email address on the next page if you have any questions.

Planning application

Work to carefully take down Grenfell Tower began last year under what is known as Permitted Development, which lasts 12 months. For the completion of the work, we have submitted a planning application through the Crown Development planning route.

Once the application is published online, we will share the link with you in a future community update.

This process is separate from the planning application that will follow later this year for the Grenfell Tower Memorial, which will be submitted following the community-led design process being managed by Freehaus.

Monitoring information on dust, vibration, and noise

The government is committed to ensuring that all work at the Grenfell Tower site is carried out to the highest standards. The safety and wellbeing of the community and people working at the site remain our priority. There are monitors at the site collecting live data on dust, vibration, and noise. The data is published every month. To see the latest reports, please click on the links below:
