Special Advisers

Special advisers are a critical part of the team supporting ministers. They add a political dimension to the advice and assistance available to ministers while reinforcing the political impartiality of the permanent Civil Service by distinguishing the source of political advice and support.

Special advisers should be fully integrated into the functioning of government. They are part of the team working closely alongside civil servants to deliver ministers' priorities. They can help ministers on matters where the work of government and the work of the government party overlap and where it would be inappropriate for permanent civil servants to become involved. They are appointed to serve the Prime Minister and the Government as a whole, not just their appointing minister.

In accordance with section 16 of the Constitutional Reform and Governance Act 2010, the Cabinet Office publishes an annual report containing the number and costs of special advisers. This information is presented below and can be read alongside the Cabinet Office Annual Report and Accounts 2025-2026, which shall be published in due course.

The Cabinet Office also routinely publishes the names of all special advisers along with information on salaries and pay bands. In accordance with the approach taken by other government departments in balancing transparency with individuals' right to privacy, the salaries of those special advisers earning equivalent to senior civil servants (£81,000 and above) are given in bands of £5,000¹.

The information provided in this report relates to the 2025/26 financial year, from 1 April 2025 until 31 March 2026.

Number of Special Advisers

As at 31 March 2026, there were 159 (155 full-time equivalent) special advisers working across Government. The total Civil Service had 557,635 (523,635 full-time equivalent) civil servants as at March 2026². Special advisers represent 0.03 per cent of the Civil Service workforce (full time equivalent)³.

Cost of Special Advisers

The special adviser paybill for the financial year 1 April 2025 to 31 March 2026 was £17.9 million. This includes £0.2 million paid in severance payments to special advisers, and a pay award of 3.25% for eligible special advisers. The pay award was in line with the headline award for the Senior Civil Service.

¹ The first band of published salaries is given as a range of £4,000 (£81,000-£84,999).

Annual Report on Special Advisers 2026

A special adviser's appointment automatically ends when their appointing minister ceases to hold the ministerial office in relation to which the adviser was appointed to assist, or if earlier, immediately following a parliamentary general election. In accordance with paragraph 18 of the Model Contract for Special Advisers, a special adviser is entitled to receive a severance payment in these circumstances. Special advisers who are subsequently reappointed are required to repay their severance as laid out in the Model Contract for Special Advisers.

	1 April 2025 - 31 March 2026	1 April 2024 - 31 March 2025
Salary Costs	£12.4m	£9.5m
National Insurance Contributions	£1.9m	£1.6m
Pension Contributions	£3.4m	£2.5m
Severance Costs	£0.2m	£3.1m
Total Pay Costs	£17.9m	£16.7m

Special Adviser Pay Policy

The Cabinet Office is responsible for Special Adviser Pay Policy. There are four pay bands for special advisers as set out below.

Pay Band 1 Junior Special Adviser - £47,525 to £57,459

Pay Band 2 Special Adviser - £64,850 to £91,067

Pay Band 3 Senior Special Adviser - £81,650 to £119,254

Pay Band 4 Special Adviser Leadership - £112,100 to £160,000

Each role is individually assessed and assigned a band according to the level and scope of responsibility required. Starting salaries are set within the relevant band reflecting the skill-set and expertise that an individual brings to the role.

Thorough benchmarking exercises are regularly carried out across the cohort to ensure the pay policy is being applied fairly and consistently. Salaries may be reviewed where there has been a material change in responsibility, or where an individual has demonstrated increased experience and their pay has not otherwise changed in the preceding two years.

A probation period was introduced for new special advisers in December 2023, during which time their suitability for the role will be assessed. If a special adviser fails to meet the expected standards of conduct, attendance or performance, then their employment may be terminated during the probation period.

Special Advisers' Declarations of Interest

As with all civil servants, special advisers must ensure that no conflict arises, or could be perceived to arise, between their public duties and their private interests, financial or otherwise.

Special advisers declare interests to their Permanent Secretary in the appointing department for consideration, in line with the Declaration of Interests policy. The personal information which special advisers disclose to the Permanent Secretary is treated in confidence. All special advisers have submitted a completed declaration of interests form, including nil returns in instances where there was no actual, potential, or perceived conflict of interest. Where relevant to the role, and to help manage a perception of conflict or to explain how a conflict is being managed, interests will be published on an annual basis in, or alongside, the relevant departmental Annual Report and Accounts. This provides a balance between transparency and privacy.

The declared interests of all those employed in the period 1 April 2025 to 31 March 2026 have been considered for publication, including those who have since left their department.
