Listing of disinfectants by Cefas on behalf of Defra is a voluntary scheme, which does not relieve manufacturers of their obligation to obtain other statutory or non-statutory clearance, or of their general responsibilities to users of their products. Attention is also drawn to legal requirements regarding classification, packaging, labelling and provision of information on dangerous goods, both for supply and transport. Advice on these may be sought from the Health and Safety Executive (www.hse.gov.uk).

Cefas acting on behalf of Defra reserve the right to perform check-tests on marketed products listed as effective against bacterial and/or viral diseases of aquaculture relevance. Products found to be ineffective at a dilution listed as effective against viral or bacterial pathogens will be removed from listing. Any false claim made on this application will result in the listing of your product being revoked.

Disinfectant Rate Card Privacy Notice

Centre for Environment
Fisheries & Aquaculture
Science

This privacy notice sets out what you can expect from Cefas when we process your personal information. This is complemented by our personal information charter, which broadly sets out our standards for requesting or storing personal information.

What data do we collect?

The information that we collect from you includes:

- Name
- Address/Postcode
- Email address
- Telephone/mobile number
- Bank details for invoicing purposes

Why are we processing your personal data?

Any personal data supplied on the application form or provided separately by the client, in connection with this application is essential for Cefas to be able to contact you and process your application. The data will also be stored for the purpose of administering the disinfectant listings mechanism.

As the process involves input from third-party laboratories, we may also receive your personal information as they transfer certification and test details.

What is the legal basis for processing your personal data?

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) Article 6 legal bases for processing your data are that it is necessary for the performance of a contract, and that the processing is necessary for the performance of a task in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller.

Cefas delivers core work for Defra covering: the safeguarding of human and animal health, providing safe and sustainable seafood; enabling food security, including through supporting the work to reform fishing policies and fisheries negotiations; and supporting the growth of marine economies, such as the realisation of UK commitments towards low carbon energy generation. Cefas provides critical science evidence and advice that underpins Defra policy development tackling the most pressing challenges for our marine and freshwater environment, including fisheries management, climate change, pollution and biodiversity loss.

Who will we share your personal data with?

We will not be sharing this personal data with any other organisations, unless we need to verify details with third-party laboratories. On the listing scheme website, we will display the company name and contact details.

Will your data be processed in a country outside of the United Kingdom or European Economic Area (EEA)?

Your information will not be shared, transferred or processed outside of the EEA.

Will your data be processed using automated decision making or profiling?

Your information will not be processed using automated decision making or profiling.

How long will we keep your data for?

Your information will be retained for the duration of the listing (reviewed 5 yearly). Contracts will be retained for a further 2 years after the listing expires, and financial information will be retained for a further 6 years.

What are the consequences if I do not supply the requested data?

If you do not supply the requested personal data, it is more than likely that we will not be able to provide the service you wish to use or are applying for.

What are my rights to my personal data?

Your rights and our commitments to your personal data are described in the Cefas Personal Information Charter as well as on the ICO website.

Where processing of your personal data is necessary for entry into or performance of a contract, you have the right to:

- Be Informed when we are processing your information
- To access and request a copy of the information we hold about you
- To correct inaccurate or complete incomplete personal data we hold about you
- Be forgotten, and request for us to erase your personal data
- To request that we restrict how widely we process your personal data
- To request we send your structured personal data to another controller
- To request human intervention where automated decision making or profiling

Where processing of your personal data is necessary for the performance of a task in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller, you have the right to:

- Be Informed when we are processing your information
- To access and request a copy of the information we hold about you
- To correct inaccurate or complete incomplete personal data we hold about you
