

Home Office

Asylum
Consequences of Behaviour

In the UK, men and women are equal

This means:

- men and women are treated the same
- women can work, study, travel and make their own choices

Treating someone unfairly because of their gender is not acceptable here. It can be against the law.

If you treat someone unfairly because of their gender, you may be reported to the police, and you may lose your asylum support.