The Yorkshire and the Humber region comprises North Yorkshire, East Yorkshire, Northern Lincolnshire, West Yorkshire and South Yorkshire.

Key statistics for the Yorkshire and the Humber region

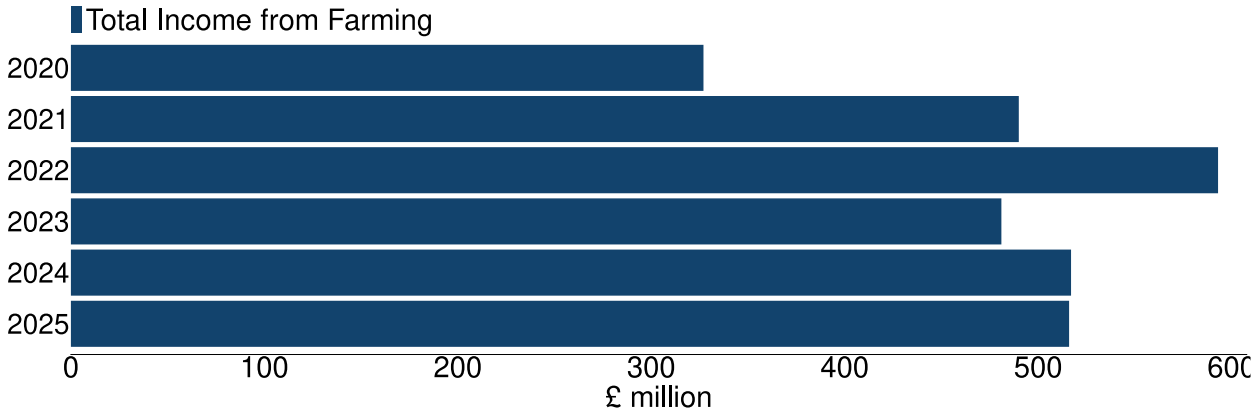

- Total Income from Farming[1] in 2025 was £516 million, a decrease of 0.2% since 2024 (Source: Total Income from Farming for the regions of England).
- In 2025, the largest contributors to the output[2] value (£3.5 billion) were pigmeat (£560 million), poultry (£392 million), beef (£317 million) and milk (£312 million). These commodities accounted for 45% of the output (Source: Total Income from Farming for the regions of England).
- The average farm size in 2025 was 93 hectares (Table 1.1). This is the fourth smallest average farm size of all the English regions but larger than the English average of 90 hectares.
- The predominant farm types in 2025 were grazing livestock (41% of the region's holdings) and cereal (20% of the region's holdings) farms (Figure 1.7). Although pig farms only accounted for 4.4% of the region's holdings, the region accounted for 41% of the English pig population (Table 1.3).
- In 2024/25 (covering the 2024 harvest), the average Farm Business Income[3] across all farm types was £73,800 per farm, which was an increase of 41% from 2023/24 (Figure 1.9).

[1] Total Income from Farming (TIFF) is the net income to farms once costs have been accounted for, so is calculated as "outputs & subsidies" minus "inputs & costs". More information on aggregate agricultural accounts can be found on GOV.UK.

[2] Output is the total value (at market prices) of commodities produced without considering production costs or any additional income received through subsidies. More information on aggregate agricultural accounts can be found on GOV.UK.

[3] In simple terms, Farm Business Income (FBI) is the output generated by the farm business minus total farm costs. More information on Farm Business Income can be found on GOV.UK.

Notes:

1. The Farm Business Survey year runs, on average, from March to February.
2. Excludes farms with less than £21,000 of standard output.
3. Farm types displayed are those more predominant in the area.
4. Lines or values in parentheses indicate the 95% confidence intervals.
5. In a given Farm Business Survey year, the sample size for some farm types can be relatively small. This means that individual farms can have a large influence on the results, and the results should be treated with caution. See the Farm Business Income by type of farm in England publication for more information.

6. Values are rounded to the nearest £100.
7. Data correct as at October 2026.

Notes:

1. "[z]" means "not applicable".
2. Total labour includes farmers, partners, directors, spouses, salaried managers, regular and casual workers.
3. Casual workers are those usually employed for less than 20 weeks of the year.
4. Number of workers per farm calculations are averages based on the total number of farm holdings in the region.
5. Part time workers are those employed for less than 39 hours a week.
6. Percentage calculations for full and part time workers do not include salaried managers.

Section 2: Data notes

Figures are for commercial holdings as at June 2025 (unless stated otherwise). Commercial holdings are those with levels of farming activity above a specified threshold as detailed in this publication's guidance note. For further information about the June Survey of Agriculture and Horticulture please visit our survey notes and guidance page on GOV.UK.

"Region" in this statistical notice refers to International Territorial Level 1 (ITL1) for England. The ITL1 regions for Greater London and the South East have been combined in this statistical notice due to the fact that London has such a small farming infrastructure.

This release contains the latest data available at the time of publishing. As a result, reference periods may vary. TIFF and FBI represent data from distinct time periods: TIFF covers January to December 2025, while FBI spans March 2024 to February 2025. As these metrics reflect different reporting periods, direct comparisons between the two should be avoided.

Section 3: Other geographical breakdowns

Defra June Survey data aggregated at other geographical classifications can be found in the Structure of the agricultural industry in England and the UK at June statistical data set on GOV.UK.

England regional data for aggregate agricultural accounts (including data at ITL2 and ITL3) can be found in the Total Income from Farming for the regions of England publication on GOV.UK.
