Dear Sirs
Wrong place. Wrong Site
Andy Burnham says the illegal immigrants should be dispersed around middle class areas as well.
This area, while there are a few well off people, it is in fact quite deprived. In Ambrosden there is social housing, people with hard circumstances military families who do not earn much. I would not consider this middle class, it is either working class or socially deprived in the majority. if you look at data you will find it is amongst the 100 plus deprived areas in England.
I might also point out that we have our fair share of Refugee Asylum status Afghan families already living in Ambrosden. I believe there are about 300 families. We have had to cope with that already in our village our schools etc have had to cope. I have actually helped some with English lessons.
I am not pussy footing about. I am [redacted] I am the only English person at the bus stop. It is all very alien to me and others.I want to get out of here. Houses are not selling.
No, we cannot have 1250 male foreign nationals living up the road. It is too dangerous.
What makes you think it is right to put these people in totally unsuitable accommodation and expect it not to end very badly.
I was [redacted] I served my country alongside [redacted] also served.
What for? I now ask myself.
All this dreadful proposal is affecting my health security and well being. The same can be said of everyone I speak to.
Let the Government buy my house from me so I can move and live in peace and security for the remainder of my life in a safe environment because the villages and Bicester obviously will not be safe any more.
We will not have you ruining our lives.
You should not be allowing illegal immigrants into our country in the first place. I don't understand how you cannot sort this problem out.
It feels like our country is being invaded by people from third world countries who have completely different values and cultures contrary to ours.
The proposal in site A is just not a viable site. It beggars belief.
