I object to the use of site A for housing young men awaiting asylum process.
The site known as site A exists on a rural road. The road does not have footpaths or lighting and is a 50mph speed limit.
Having groups of young men on this road endangers their lives and puts drivers at risk.
The site does not have any utilities. No electricity, gas, water or waste disposal. The proposal to manage waste disposal of 1250 men (or is it over 3000?) by storage and removal of waste products by tanker will mean significant additional heavy traffic on this rural road. Waste is then planned to be taken to the bicester recycling site which is already oversubscribed with waste from the ever expanding housing in Bicester.
The risk of this waste not being handled means the local environment could be contaminated both around the sewage farm and site A.
There is nothing on or close to the site for the young men to occupy themselves. This will lead to groups of young men loitering in the local villages and towns. Looting and littering.
As an older woman I will not be allowed liberty to exercise around the village where I live or within Bicester, at will, day or night, for fear of being assaulted or worse, by the groups of men.

These young men do not understand our culture, how to behave in this country. If we are allowing them into this country then until they have been granted permission to stay then they shouldn't have freedom to roam but instead should be provided accommodation in a secure environment. A secure environment where there only movements are to attend hearings.

Putting young men into site a providing them with access to our roads, towns and villages will be a huge mistake.
