Dear Sir Madam,
I am writing to place my formal objection to the use of the MOD site at Piddington to accommodate over a thousand migrants.
This objection is based on the scale of the proposed plan in an area that has no infrastructure. There will need to be an increased power supply, water supply, drainage of sewage, street lighting, bus service, pavements, healthcare interpreters and policing.
There will be increased noise pollution and light pollution in an area around a very small village, in fact dwarfing that small village.
There is very little to do in the area and I do worry that these are alleged to be all young males. There are a lot of children and young females in the area that like it or not, will feel threatened by the sheer numbers of of young men, who have a very different viewpoint on equality and what is acceptable as is the custom in their country.
There has been no mention of safeguarding for either these young men, or the local population, especially the women and children.
There has been no regard for the wildlife in the area, which contains some species on the amber risk list.
It seems as though you are putting the lives of these poor young males in an area that has no ability to support their lifestyles whilst at the same time having no regard for the lifestyles of the people living in the local community, changing everything without any thought or consultation.
In summary it is a wholly inappropriate proposal, in an area that cannot sustain the proposed volume of young adult males.
The expenditure required to make it work is an unacceptable misuse of tax payers' money, and there has been no regard to safety or policing structure. The area is simply too rural to contain an influx which increases the population by that amount, especially of people with a very different culture and attitude. They will be isolated from all others of the same country/origin or faith.

Yours faithfully
