Objection to MOD Bicester, Site A, Asylum Centre

I wish to put forward my objection to the Government proposal to develop MOD Bicester, Site A into a centre for housing asylum seekers

To put 1295 men into a facility that is in a rural location, with little in the way of amenities is ludicrous.
It has been stated that the site will have basic facilities, with little in the way of amenities. This, presumably, is to deter illegal immigrants from wanting to come to the UK.
How is it envisaged that they will spend their time?

It is likely that they will wish to leave the MOD Site.
This will be problematic. There are no pavements, there isn't any street lighting, there is little in the way of public transport. The road alongside Site A is very busy. Therefore for the men living at Site A they are putting themselves, and others, at risk by either walking or cycling from the site. It is simply too dangerous.

The nearest habitation to Site A is Piddington village. There is very little there in the way of amenities - no shop etc. There are around 350 residents in Piddington, so to have an influx of 1250 men close by will be a great burden on the area. It will also be a great safety concern for the women and children living there.

Has any thought been given to the need for improved infrastructure for the area, such as GPs, dentists etc? Bicester is a rapidly growing town and the local infrastructure is already stretched. This influx of an initial 1250 men will only exacerbate the problem.

The ecology of MOD Site A hasn't been fully assessed in terms of protected species. There are Great Crested Newts and various bat species inhabiting the site. These are protected species and should not be disturbed. So, to develop Site A into living accommodation, will do exactly that.

To put it simply, MOD Bicester, Site A is simply not suitable for housing 1250 male asylum seekers. To do so is inhumane.
When large numbers of men are housed together in a relatively isolated country location, with little in the way of amenities and nothing to do all day, it is asking for trouble.

I am a resident at [redacted] so I am obviously very concerned of the effect that this proposed development at MOD Bicester Site A, will have upon our local community, and indeed the wider community.

Kind regards,
