You don't often get email from [redacted] Learn why this is important

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to express my deep concerns regarding the proposal to house asylum seekers in Piddington.

I appreciate that there are legal and humanitarian responsibilities to accommodate individuals seeking asylum. However, I believe it is important that any such arrangements are carefully planned and that local residents are properly informed and consulted.

The priority of our government should be our own people and anyone that comes to our country should give back to and respect our community.

My concerns relate primarily to the potential impact on local safety, services and infrastructure. These include pressures on healthcare provision, school places, public transport, and other community resources. I would welcome clarification regarding any assessments that have been undertaken to determine whether existing services can accommodate additional demand.

I am also concerned about the level of community engagement surrounding this proposal. Residents should have the opportunity to understand the plans, ask questions, and receive clear information about how the accommodation will be managed and supported.

[redacted] I am gravely concerned that youngsters and individuals are not going to be given this comfort due to the high number of individuals placed here whose values and lifestyle are incredibly different to ours.

The proposals are likely to have a grave impact on local property prices. [redacted]. I believe the proposals will have a huge impact on local property prices and attractiveness of the area for home buyers.

I condone any violence and racism that has arisen due surrounding this situation and personally feel offended and incredibly frustrated that the message is getting lost. I will never accept racism.

I fear for the impact of such a large scale proposal in quick succession without proper planning. Issues are evidenced by the impact to other similar sites.

I would be grateful if you could provide information on any impact assessments that have been carried out and how local residents' concerns will be addressed.

I believe that transparency, proper planning, and meaningful consultation are essential to maintaining community confidence and ensuring that local services remain effective for everyone.

Thank you for taking the time to consider my concerns. I look forward to your response.

Yours faithfully,
