A national challenge

Youth non-participation is a national crisis, but one that is experienced locally.

Locally led solutions

The participation system should be universal in promise and local in delivery.

Government as steward

Central government should set outcomes, provide long-term support and ensure accountability across the participation system - intervening where improvement is needed.