and the relevant DD, Rupert Hetherington, as they have broader reach across the questions engaged and will be better able to advise.

Some basic points:

- Any declaration of interests process will be for the Perm Sec to sign off as FCDO Accounting Officer and because this is a civil service position.
- Obviously, with ministers' interests there is an additional check and advice provided by the Independent Adviser but the IA acts only in the ministerial sphere and a departure from the IA's terms of reference - i.e. a new bespoke process - would be a matter for the PM.
- The Perm Sec is always able to ask Propriety & Ethics for support on this matter, given that it is a novel situation. As part of that, P&E could look at providing an expanded DoI form, for example. Down the line, once you have DoI information from the appointee, the Perm Sec may wish to ask P&E for advice on particular points, at which point P&E can test questions with seniors and if judged useful, informally with the IA.

Sorry to pass you on, but Rupert and team will be able to help.

Hi JCS

Many thanks for confirming. I finish for leave today and return on 6 January, but JCS will be working on Friday 27 December, so please do reach out to her if you need anything and to help move this along.

I am sure you will likely be aware, but for visibility:

- JCS in Americas is supporting Lord Mandelson's on boarding from a geographic perspective and is arranging for a briefing pack to be sent to him on 27 December. If the IT Kit is also ready this will be sent to him.

- I understand that it has been agreed Lord Mandelson will work for the Fox room until he leaves for the US.

- We have not heard back from Treasury on the salary approval, so no contract has been issued. JCS has been working to support getting him a Dip Passport and Medical clearance etc.

- We will need to sign off on the COI papers before a contract issues, and this might involve some questions for you to address to the Propriety and Ethics team in No 10.

- PST are working on STRAP clearance.

- Third Party and is pending for Lord Mandelson, but James Roscoe doesn't expect we will hear more on this until after the New Year.

- See attached messages for reference on announcing the appointment and the brief in prep for the meeting with HMTK which has been pencilled in for 7 January.

Wishing you a lovely Christmas break and a very Happy New Year when it comes.

Best Regards

JCS

I have a number of additional points I would like clarified (in the order they appear on the form):

- Global Counsel equity – unless this can be sold immediately, I assume it is going in a blind trust. When will this happen by?

- Moon Active, See True equity, Blue Voyant option – when will the blind trust be set up?

- Ditchley Foundation, Trustee/Member of Council of Management; Chancellor, Manchester Metropolitan University; Ertegun Graduate Scholarship Scheme Board member; Chair Emeritus, Design Museum – for each one please could Lord Mandelson set out answers to the relevant questions in the guidance (pasted below):

"If you disclose another role, please provide supporting detail. For example:

i) the name of the organisation
ii) the nature of their business
iii) your role
iv) your start date and tenure
v) how it does or may relate to this role
vi) details of your time commitment and any remuneration.

For any roles you list, please also provide details of any contracts/commercial agreements of which you are aware between the respective organisation and the FCDO or any other notable organisations in or connected to the FCDO."
These questions should also be answered for the British American Project in addition to your question about sponsors below.
Finally, please bring this form to the attention of my successor and ensure they are content with it. He/she will need to be willing to defend it.

Dear Philip,
See attached Lord Peter Mandelson's conflict of interest declaration form for your review. I've copied Rob Tinline as Business Area Responsible SCS.
As you are aware, he has completed this declaration as a member of staff. He will commence employment with the FCDO as a Civil Servant on a fixed term contract from x January, at Grade SCS4, following the announced of his appointment as HMA Washington designate.
You'll note that his interests are also declared as part of his membership of the House of Lords: Register of Interests for Lord Mandelson - MPs and Lords - UK Parliament.
I suggest this is returned to Peter with the email below. I then suggest I pass the message to Peter to the CO Propriety and Ethics team asking if they are content with our approach - which is in line with our departmental guidance.
Thank you,

Dear Peter,
Thank you for submitting your Conflict of Interest form. Philip has reviewed and requested additional information as follows:

- British American Project: please could you detail the sponsors?
- Speaking Engagement: the Foreign Secretary's political team is in touch with you on this specific engagement
- Please can you confirm that you have considered whether you have anything further to add with regard to (4) Related Party Interests?

Can I just check who filled in the columns in the table at the end - was it a mixture of PM and someone in FCDO? (And if so do you know which bits PM filled in and which were done by the FCDO)?

Dear JCS,
Please see attached Peter's CoI declaration for information. This is being taken forward under our usual departmental process for staff.
Given the nature of the appointment I'd welcome your informal review, particularly if there is anything where the central guidance may have become more stringent over the past 6 months (eg. Other roles or Gifts and Hospitality)
Thank you,

- Obviously, with ministers' interests there is an additional check and advice provided by the Independent Adviser but the IA acts only in the ministerial sphere and a departure from the IA's terms of reference - i.e. a new bespoke process - would be a matter for the PM.
- The Perm Sec is always able to ask Propriety & Ethics for support on this matter, given that it is a novel situation. As part of that, P&E could look at providing an expanded DoI form, for example. Down the line, once you have DoI information from the appointee, the Perm Sec may wish to ask P&E for advice on particular points, at which point P&E can test questions with seniors and if judged useful, informally with the IA.

You don't often get email from Personal . Learn why this is important

Hi JCS
Thanks for sharing. We don't have any significant comments on the current proposal which broadly speaking looks sensible to us. But we would be interested in seeing the further detail which you've already requested on the other orgs including the British American Project, given it is directly related to US/UK relations, before coming to a final judgement, as well as the other responses - we agree that the questions sent to PM seem the right ones to ask. We'll then run through seniors here and come back to you with any final feedback.
We had some initial thoughts which might be worth sharing with you now:

- We thought it is worth doing some more detailed thinking on the 'blind' arrangement with the Global Counsel equity. On the face of it, it is a bit difficult to see how this could be genuinely 'blind', because PM would know that he continued to hold the equity and, since the value of the equity is tied to the value of Global Counsel, then he would theoretically be (or could be perceived to be) in a position to influence the value of that interest as US Ambassador.. But if he is proposing a different arrangement here that means it can be genuinely 'blind', please let us know.
- This is more a matter for PM than the FCDO, but we wondered how the Personal

- PM has described his equity holdings with Moon Active and See True as 'modest'

it might be worth getting a value range from PM for these (if not the precise values), given that this is a subjective term.

- Noting the above about waiting for more information about the British American Project and other orgs, we'd suggest that PM's engagement with these is in line with precedent (e.g. with the Ditchley Foundation we note that Karen Pierce is currently a Ditchley Governor, so presumably PM's engagement could be brought into line with this, if it isn't already.
- Noted that the FS's political team are engaging with PM about the UBS bank speaking engagement with Asian clients - please could you let us know the outcome of that?
- Also noted that PM spoke to HMA Rome about taking a leave of absence from the House of Lords. PM may also want to take further advice from the relevant House authorities about this.

Many thanks,
JCS

Dear Corin, JCS (for Olly),
An update. This information is provided in strictest confidence, to respect vetting confidence principles, because Corin and Olly are directly in my line management chain as Chief Security Officer.
ESND have approved the DV clearance of Lord Mandelson. He was sent notification and his DV certificate by email (on Osprey) on the evening of 29 January 2025. It will be valid for five years.
As part of the usual clearance process, UKSV identified some areas in his application for ESND to review:

- I understand that Lord Mandelson's private sector engagements are being managed by HRD and Legal Directorate through the conflict of interest process.

- With regard to personal conduct, I understand that Lord Mandelson has received a letter from Mervyn Thomas, informing him of his responsibilities as an FCDO employee, including under the Diplomatic Service Regulations.

- Matters pertaining to his overseas contacts will certainly be reviewed by the STRAP Authorities.  I am unable to assure about the decision they will take. Their decision will determine the access that Lord Mandelson has to the most sensitive information and meetings.

ESND shared with Lord Mandelson (and separately with JCS in Americas Directorate) the STRAP application forms, which we have asked Lord Mandelson to complete as an urgent priority. We will seek to expedite the processing of his application as soon as the completed forms are returned to us.
Best wishes,

Peter comes on to FCDO payroll on Monday – so Olly will speak to him then to check in on progress and go through the form. Thanks JCS
Can I just check who filled in the columns in the table at the end - was it a mixture of PM and someone in FCDO? (And if so do you know which bits PM filled in and which were done by the FCDO)?
Would also be good to understand where this is up to in your process, just for our understanding.
Thanks,
JCS

Dear JCS ,
Please see attached Peter's CoI declaration for information. This is being taken forward under our usual departmental process for staff.
Given the nature of the appointment I'd welcome your informal review, particularly if there is anything where the central guidance may have become more stringent over the past 6 months (eg. Other roles or Gifts and Hospitality)
Thank you,
JCS

Hi JCS ,
Thanks for sharing this with us. I am copying in the main Propriety & Ethics Inbox and the relevant DD, Rupert Hetherington, as they have broader reach across the questions engaged and will be better able to advise.
Some basic points:

- Any declaration of interests process will be for the Perm Sec to sign off as FCDO Accounting Officer and because this is a civil service position.
- Obviously, with ministers' interests there is an additional check and advice provided by the Independent Adviser but the IA acts only in the ministerial sphere and a departure from the IA's terms of reference - i.e. a new bespoke process - would be a matter for the PM.
- The Perm Sec is always able to ask Propriety & Ethics for support on this matter, given that it is a novel situation. As part of that, P&E could look at providing an expanded DoI form, for example. Down the line, once you have DoI information from the appointee, the Perm Sec may wish to ask P&E for advice on particular points, at which point P&E can test questions with seniors and if judged useful, informally with the IA.

Sorry to pass you on, but Rupert and team will be able to help.
Best wishes

AVOIDING PERCEPTIONS OF CONFLICT OF INTEREST ARISING FROM GLOBAL COUNSEL SHAREHOLDING

Both before and after taking after his appointment to Washington, Lord Mandelson and I have discussed his continued holding in Global Counsel Ltd ("GC"), a UK-headquartered political and regulatory advisory firm. The ideal would have been for GC to have bought him out of this position before he took up the appointment. GC has however not made an offer that Lord Mandelson considers commensurate with the fair value.

2. As GC is a privately-owned company, Lord Mandelson does not have a public markets solution to dispose of his holding. Other devices, such as a blind trust, do not work for a large holding in a privately-owned company if the hypothetical concern is Lord Mandelson taking actions or decisions in his public office that might confer advantage on GC. Lord Mandelson expects that the Messina Group, who took a large stake in GC [last year], will later this year make an offer for the whole company. Assuming this offer proves acceptable to GC, Lord Mandelson will then exit his shareholding entirely and not take stock in the Messina Group. He will keep me briefed on these commercial developments directly. The expectation is that Lord Mandelson will divest his stake.

3. Lord Mandelson and I have agreed that there needs to be a temporary and additional layer of internal scrutiny of his business engagements while in possession of his GC shares to help him avoid any perception that he is consciously or even unconsciously furthering GC's commercial interests. I would be grateful if you could:

- ask Lord Mandelson for a list of GC's senior client relationships, including all government clients (if any);

- use this list, coupled with your judgement, to take a monthly forward look at Lord Mandelson's business engagements and flag to him any engagements which might risk an actual or perceived conflict, where action or mitigations might be appropriate; and

- report to me quarterly on the operation of these arrangements and any suggestions you have for improving them.

4. For the avoidance of doubt, I want and expect Lord Mandelson to engage with

Dear Third Party,
It was great to meet you last week – I very much enjoyed our discussion.
One of the interesting issues we discussed was alternative options to the WTO. This begs a series of questions on how likeminded partners come to terms with China and its practices.
Informally, I would like to pursue this conversation and convene a lunch on 13

May, as this date means I could bring to DC a former trade colleague of mine, Third Party . He has interesting views and I would ask him to lead off.
I do not envisage a large gathering, a few trade officials at the Embassy and others you suggest that could work as a good group. It would be best to keep this under the radar.
Let me know if the date works for you. I understand you may be travelling to London around this time.

Hi JCS,
Please let me know if you're happy with the below handling.
Thanks,
JCS

OUTLET: Private Eye
JOURNO: Solomon Hughes
DEADLINE: ASAP
ISSUE: Solomon Hughes at the Private Eye has written in to say that Global Counsel just filed a "Confirmation Statement" showing that Peter Mandelson's shareholding in the firm is still substantial, and is not going down much - https://find-and-update.company-information.service.gov.uk/company/10533767/filing-history
They ask:

1. What is done to manage this conflict of interest (with Global Counsel clients including Palantir etc).
2. Can we expect Peter Mandelson to divest himself of more shares soon? When will he end his shareholding ? Or can he remain a shareholder in Global Counsel throughout his role as Ambassador?

HANDLING: We recommend issuing standard language on this and including an additional background line rebutting this.
An FCDO spokesperson said: “There is an established regime in place for the management of interests held by Ambassadors or High Commissioners. This ensures that steps are taken to avoid or mitigate any actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interest.”
Background

- Lord Mandelson relinquished all operational involvement in Global Counsel on his appointment.

The Rt Hon Sir Keir Starmer KCB KC MP Prime Minister of the United Kingdom

Dear Prime Minister,

Scenesetter: President Trump's Visit to Scotland 25-29 July

Six months in, President Trump's second term is moving into a new phase and with new challenges. It is vital that we use the President's Scottish visit to make progress on our goal of landing an ambitious UK-US Technology Partnership for the State Visit. We should also use the visit to demonstrate the benefits of the UK-US Economic and Prosperity Deal by showcasing the jobs and growth that flow from it, as well as advancing our other deliverables for the State Visit.  you will need to show how our priorities are delivering for  Administration's agenda.

Political context

After "flooding the zone" with a record-breaking number of Executive Orders in his opening months, Trump succeeded in passing his flagship legislation: the "One Big Beautiful Bill Act". This serves as the President's legislative vehicle for delivering on his campaign promises through the rest of his term, from cutting taxes to reducing the size of the federal government. Given razor thin Republican majorities in both chambers, the passage of this bill was a notable achievement, and you might mention this landmark advance.

But with this legislative win comes the end of a window traditionally viewed as a "honeymoon period" for the new Administration. ***

Against this backdrop attention is starting to turn towards the midterm elections in November 2026, the Administration's next key test with voters. ***

Policy deliverables

As the Administration grapples with complex challenges at home, it is important that we retain our narrow focus on a select number of key UK interests.

Economic Prosperity Deal

Technology Partnership

A core objective for the State Visit is the agreement of an ambitious UK-US Technology Partnership. We want US tech companies to view the UK as their home. ***

We would like to use the State Visit to announce a set of high ambition objectives around AI infrastructure, investment in the UK, joint research in future technologies (moonshots like nuclear fusion and quantum computing) and on defence technology cooperation. ***

Defence and security

Civil nuclear

On energy policy we are aligned on our civil nuclear ambition, providing a once-in-a generation opportunity for the US and UK to work together and regain our historical leadership in a sector that will define the future of energy, security, and economic strength. Through a new UK-US civil nuclear partnership, we can build a powerful Atlantic Alliance in civil nuclear and fusion that secures our supply chains, beats our adversaries to market dominance, and creates high-paying jobs for American and British workers.

We will continue to capitalise on this ahead of the State Visit and your continued engagement with the President will very much support us in this endeavour. I look forward to seeing you in Scotland.

I wrote to you on 28 March about Lord Mandelson's holding in Global Counsel Ltd ("GC"), a UK headquartered political and regulatory advisory firm. Lord Mandelson had indicated his intent to divest his stake in GC. This was to be achieved through the sale of GC to another party. I am writing to update you that the other party has not been able to execute this transaction. Lord Mandelson remains committed to selling at the earliest possible opportunity. GC are raising debt in order to achieve this and expect to make an offer in September. While neither Lord Mandelson nor I wish him to continue to be a shareholder in GC for a moment longer than necessary, I am reassured that any risk of perceived conflict of interest is substantially mitigated by the reality that Lord Mandelson agreed a valuation of his shareholding on [X] and this will not change: he therefore has no ongoing economic interest in GC's commercial performance.

Thanks. I will look at changes. It is not meant to be general undiluted hostility to China - and Peter Wilson has given extensive comments ! - but I feel strongly about tech dominance. I will soften the lecture on China and add tone in the q and a !

Very grateful. I plan to see you at the Reform.

Peter,
A good and very interesting speech. I have made commented and edits in track-changes in the attached.
Two further overarching comments:

1. The speech's main argument – as I read it – is that we need to work with Trump's US or China will dominate the world and that would be a very bad thing (and that the US needs allies if it's to win that contest). That is a powerful argument but it's pure hostility towards China does not obviously align with what looks like HMG's considerable effort to achieve a rapprochement with China. I think you need a couple of sentences from HMG's script of warmer language towards China, both to explain the balance of HMG's policy and to minimise problems with our China relationship and goals.
2. As an intelligent lay reader, I was left wondering about a stupid question: why we needed a tech partnership with the US. As long as new barriers to take overs and IP sharing aren't brought in, won't our companies just get on with it? Is it that we need a formal partnership to stop one side (probably the US) bringing in such barriers? I'm sure there are lots of good reasons. Expanding on this would help the audience understand the substance beneath the label and the justification for HMG's approach.

As you will see, I have made suggestions on toning down some parts of your apologia of the Trump administration. Scepticism of it is now so deep – at least in the public policy-interested world outside government – that it would be counterproductive/unpersuasive if you came across as having drunk the Kool Aid.
Really looking forward to listening to it online on Saturday week. Hope you're doing well,

Please find below the following comments in response to your query.
Lord Mandelson – 9 September

- I feel a tremendous sense, profound sense of sympathy for those people, those women who suffered as a result of Epstein's behaviour and his illegal criminal activities. And secondly, I regret very, very deeply indeed carrying on that association with him for far longer than I should have done; it was a matter of years after I initially met him.

- I regret very much that I fell for his lies. I fell and accepted assurances that he had given me about his indictment, his original criminal case in Florida. Like very many people, I took at face value what he said. With hindsight, with fresh information, many years later, we realized that we had been wrong to believe him. He's a charismatic, criminal liar. We now see, and I regret very much indeed. I felt it like an albatross around my neck.

- I feel a tremendous sense of regret, not only that I met him in the first place, but I continued the association, and I took at face value the lines that he fed me.

- It was not a business relationship. He operated in a financial and business way, way above my level. Yes, he was always saying, “Would you like to see so and so? I've got this friend, I'm having this dinner, would you like to come?” He was a prolific social networker and a political networker, that is true.

- During all the time I was an associate of his, I never saw the wrongdoing. I never saw any evidence of criminal activity. I never sought, and nor did he offer, any introductions to women in the way that allegedly he did for others. Perhaps it's because I'm a gay man. Perhaps when I was associating with him those years ago, as I did with my then partner and now husband, Ronaldo, we never, ever saw any evidence or sign of this activity which has since come to light.

- [You stayed with him on a number of occasions, as you admit?] I did in the early years. That's certainly true, and now I regret it. Now I regret it. I regret it bitterly. I regret being taken in by him, as very many other people do. But it was 10 years later, when he was federally prosecuted, that people suddenly learned of what he had been up to all those years.

- I have no doubt at all that there's a lot of traffic, correspondence, exchanges between us—absolutely. And we know those are going to surface. We know they're going to come out. We know they're going to be very embarrassing, and I know that I'm going to profoundly regret ever having met him and been introduced to him in the first place. But I can't rewrite history. What I can do is express my profound sympathy for those who were badly treated by him. And secondly, I can accept—yes, I can accept—that I continued my association with him for too long.

I also refer you to the Prime Minister’s statement delivered in the commons this morning:

Prime Minister

Mr. Speaker, let me start by saying the victims of Epstein are the forefront of our minds. He was a despicable criminal who committed the most heinous crimes and destroyed the lives of so many women and girls. The ambassador has repeatedly expressed his deep regret for his association with him. Uh he's right to do so. I have confidence in him and he's playing an important role in the UK US relationship.

> > Bloomberg News is preparing to publish an article based on more than 100 emails sent between Jeffrey Epstein's personal email account Personal and Personal The emails show you expressing steadfast support for Epstein and offering to message your contacts about his 2008 prison sentence, which has since become infamous with many critics suggesting it was far too short.
> > Ahead of the publication of a story based on these emails, as well as other reporting, we would like to offer you the opportunity to comment on what we plan to publish. Below are points derived from our reporting to date, followed by a series of questions based on them. To be clear, these questions are intended to further inform our reporting on the points below. The emails are presented as they appear, complete with grammatical errors, typos, and misspellings.

-on June 25 2008, around the time Epstein pled guilty to soliciting sex from a minor, you sent Epstein an email in which you stated: “I think the world of you and I feel hopeless and furious about what has happened. I can still barely understand it. It just could not happen in Britain. You have to be incredibly resilient, fight for early release and be philosophical about it as much as you can. Reinaldo insists that everything can be turned into an opportunity and that you will come through it and be stronger for it. The whole thing has been years of torture and now you have to show the world how big a person you are, and how strong. Your friends stay with you and love you.”
- In October 2005, before Epstein was charged by police, you asked Epstein, “When are you going to the island at Xmas? I am having trouble getting air tickets to st barts and was wondering about going via US, NY or Miami (butt this may also be difficult because of availability of BA airmiles). What are your plans and do I fit in to them? x” Epstein replied that he would be going in December writing: “all dec,,, I can pay for your tickets if needed.” You were European Commissioner for Trade at the time. The email includes the following signature, which is also on most of the others: “The Rt. Hon.Peter Mandelson. European Commissioner for Trade”
-in May 2006 when Epstein was charged by police you sent him an email indicating your support. You messaged him asking, "What's cooking?" and he replied, “attempting to set up another prosecutor meeting." You responded: "I am following you closely and here whenever you need."
-in June 2006 you emailed Epstein writing: "Worried that I haven’t heard from you. Are you seeing them off and winning?" Epstein replied, "I find this impossible to believe but the District Attorney ,, said yesterday,, that he had the wrong facts,,, and that even the allegations were much differnt than he thought..I. he was embarassed,,,and said that the worth they would do would charge solicitation but un two weeks,, decide whether to drop it altogether." Separately, Epstein emailed: “the prosecutors office, has been deluged with publicity on Rush limbaugh,, who they made a deal with… the press is either crying special treatment,,, or the republicans celebrity prosecution,,, we have a call into the lesbian , who has yet to return it this week… I took a polygraph, and of course passed with flying colts,,(maybe useful pr) and was interviewed by two shrinks ,, same results.. thanks for your thoughts”
-in June 2006 on the day Epstein was arrested by Palm Beach

Police, you emailed him, writing: "Keep me posted. Where are you next week?"
-Epstein replied to that email, writing: "All bad new york post,, says solicited a prostitute."
-you appeared to confide in Epstein and in October 2006 you wrote him an email asking him to call you. You wrote that you were experiencing a "terrible situation" in your personal life. Later that day after sending that email, you wrote Epstein an email stating: "Please stick with me through this. x." Epstein replied to this email writing: "Of course".
-on January 7 2008, you forwarded the text of a message from a contact who you did not identify offering to help Epstein. You wrote: "'I will really go for it on your friend now that his case is a bit more realistically salvageable', is what he said to me,."
-in January 2008 you also wrote to Epstein, “The name I originally passed but don’t know whether it was used last week. Doubt it. I have tried to call you back (twice).x”
-in January 2008, Epstein told you that an unidentified person known as "Mr Big" would meet with Jay Lefkowitz, one of Epstein's lawyers in his Florida case.
-Epstein told you that: "The person in my camp that previously was in the current White House is Jay Lefkowitz (Lefky is the way mr big refers to him) it is his name that needs to be shared."
-Epstein wrote to you that: “peter, mr. big has a meeting thursday with Lefky. I need your guy to remind him on time before the meeting.. then we are done.”
-you later emailed Epstein writing: "I will get a message. He is travelling at the moment."
-on Thursday, January 17 2008, Lefkowitz was in Washington DC and met with President George W. Bush at the White House.
-weeks later you wrote again to Epstein writing: "Reminder. You are fighting back so you need strategy, strategy, strategy. Remember the Art of War." This is a reference to the ancient Chinese text on military strategy.
-in June 2008 on the day then-Prime Minister Gordon Brown met with then-US President George W Bush, Epstein emailed you writing: "your boy is meeting tomorrow with B. IF he gets a chance he could remind josh bolton [sic]." "Your boy" would appear to be a reference to Mr Brown, while B appears to be a reference to Mr Bush. Josh Bolten was Mr Bush's chief of staff at the time.
-you replied to Epstein's email writing: "In fact he met him this morning. It was one on one I think, so no josh."
-in July 2008, weeks after Epstein was jailed in Florida, he wrote to you asking: "Did you come across Governor Christ [sic] from Florida. He is europe on a trade mission… he would be instrumental in a pardon, as i pled guilty to a STATE offence." You did not reply.

-you continued your friendship with Epstein for years after his incarceration in Florida.
-in June 2009, Epstein emailed Jes Staley, then head of JPMorgan Chase & Co.'s investment banking division, writing: "For all intends and purposes peter mandelson is now deputy prime minister."
-at the World Economic Forum in Davos in January 2010, Mr Staley sent a request to Epstein asking for him to help set up a meeting with you. Two days after making this request, Mr Staley wrote to Epstein stating: "Peter last night. Darling in 20 minutes. Will talk again with Peter this AM."
-in May 2010, after the Labour Party lost the general election, Epstein wrote to Mr Staley stating: "Peties quitting"
-weeks after you left office, you forwarded details of a Chinese conference being held later that year to Epstein. You wrote: "Isn't it something that JPM should be represented at if they want to spread their wings in China."
-Epstein forwarded this email to Mr Staley saying he agreed with the sentiment.
-in June 2010, you had a meeting with Peter Scher, the then head of global government relations and public affairs at JPMorgan.
-Mr Staley wrote to Epstein at that time writing: "How did Peter M like his meeting with Peter Scher?"
-in the months after you left office in May 2010, you were in contact with several senior JPMorgan employees.
-at one point, Mr Staley forwarded Epstein an email you had sent him laying out potential opportunities for JPMorgan in Congo that followed a visit you had made to the country. That email stated: "In Congo Brazzaville lastt week, I talked at length with President Sassou N'Guesso, including about the above new mine. Exploration, he told me, had been undertaken by a consortium of investors backed by JP Morgan."
-you also emailed JPMorgan with information on Russia's privatisation programme. Mr Staley forwarded an email he had sent to a JPMorgan colleague regarding the bank's work in Russia stating: "When Lord Mandelson can help, please let me know."
-around this time, in October 2010, Epstein directly suggested the idea to Mr Staley of JPMorgan hiring you in some capacity. He wrote in an email to Mr Staley: "would it make sense to have peter have a relationship with cazanov [sic]." This is an apparent reference to JPMorgan's British investment banking business, JPMorgan Cazenove.

-around this time you helped found the consultancy business Global Counsel.
-Global Counsel has over the past 15 years provided advice to some of the world's largest companies.
-in 2013 you were scheduled to have dinner with Epstein at his New York townhouse.
-you stepped down from Global Counsel this year on accepting the role of British ambassador in Washington.
-in recent years you have downplayed your relationship with Epstein and said you regretted ever having associated with him.
Questions:
- did Epstein pay for your plane trip to his island in 2005?
-did you attempt to help Epstein fight the criminal charges he faced over his abuse of young women, including minors?
-why were you "furious" when he was convicted of soliciting sex from a minor in June 2008?
-during 2008, did you offer to have contacts lobby on Epstein's behalf? Which contacts, and what was the substance of your interactions with them about this matter? What were you hoping to achieve?
- Who is the "Mr. Big" being referenced in these email exchanges, and what was the substance of your interactions with him?
-did you believe Epstein when he told you he had passed a polygraph test and that prosecutors had overreached?
- who is the contact who told you in January 2008 that they "will really go for it on your friend now that his case is a bit more realistically salvageable"?
-what is the name you say you “originally passed” in January 2008?
-did you ever discuss with Gordon Brown, or anyone in his orbit, the idea of lobbying the administration of George W Bush on Epstein's behalf?
-did you discuss Epstein's conviction with former Florida governor Charlie Crist?
-why did you stay in contact with Epstein after his conviction? Did you believe his conviction was unfair?
-did Epstein ask you to meet with Jes Staley?
-did Epstein ask you in January 2010 to help set up a meeting between Mr Staley and the late Alistair Darling?
-after leaving office in May 2010, did you attempt to get a role of any kind with JPMorgan Chase & Co.? Did you do any paid work for JPMorgan Chase & Co. in any capacity?

-were you aware that Epstein was lobbying Mr Staley seemingly on your behalf for you to get a job with JPMorgan Cazenove?
-did you attend a dinner at Epstein's New York townhouse in 2013?
-did you play any role in Prince Andrew’s appointment as a UK Trade Envoy?
-when did you last have contact with Epstein?
-when did you cut your ties with Epstein?
-why did you cut your ties at this point?
-based on the texts of the emails that we have recounted above, are there any clarifications you'd like to make or other information you'd like to share that would further inform our reporting here?
We realise there are a lot of questions and information for you to respond to here, so would propose that you reply to this email by Friday, Sept. 12 at 5pm EDT. If you have any questions in the meantime, you can message me on this email.
Yours sincerely,

Morning both,
Further info I believe you are after.
FCDO (as sponsor) set Lord M up for his DV clearance with UK Security Vetting (on 20 Dec 2024). This is normal practice.
He went through the same process that anyone else does, who achieves DV. Same checks, same interviews etc.
In his case, this involved a second interview (on 24 Jan 2025) to confirm a couple of details that UKSV wanted to verify.
UKSV then informed the FCDO of their recommendation in the last week of January.
On 29 Jan 2025, FCDO (as decision maker) granted the DV certificate (for 5 years rather than 7). This shorter tenure was an FCDO decision owing to our expectations of a HoM posting being maximum 4-5 years.

PUSPO also sent a conflict of interest form to Lord M in January 2025.
I have not discussed here the content of his vetting file. Obviously we can do so with the right person(s) but I would note that vetting is an 'in confidence' process and candidates have a right to assume their information will be properly protected.
Owing to him being a high-profile individual, his case file has been placed into special handling. This basically means that anyone with access to the UKSV casework system cannot by default see the file. Special permissions would need to be granted by UKSV themselves.
Hope that is all useful.
Best wishes

Candour and disclosure in National Security Vetting

During the Developed Vetting (DV) security clearance process, a candidate must submit a range of personal information and undergoes a range of background checks to help an employer and employee to identify, manage and mitigate risks for roles where national security concerns are a consideration.

Personal information is submitted ostensibly via a DV Security Questionnaire and during a detailed interview conducted by a trained Vetting Clearance Officer (VCO).

Security Questionnaire

The questionnaire requires completion of a range of factual information about the candidate. This includes:

Answer: Yes or No

If Yes:

Interview

The vetting interview at DV is predicated on an open, two-way confidential conversation between the applicant and the VCO.

(a) Interview Guidance

The UK Security Vetting website includes guidance on 'How to approach the interview'. The guidance states:

Be completely honest.
The interview will be very searching, but it is not an interrogation and should not feel like one. Some of the questions will be intrusive but are asked because we are trying to find out if you are vulnerable to pressure. If you have any concerns about the relevance of any of the questions, please ask your Vetting Clearance Officer and they will explain why they are asking the question.
Sometimes people have aspects of their lives that they are ashamed or embarrassed to tell us about. Usually these are of little or no security significance. They will generally not stop or restrict the granting of a security clearance.
The Vetting Clearance Officer is not there to make moral judgements about your experiences or circumstances. Their role is to assess any potential security risks. It is essential therefore that you are open and honest at all stages of the interview process.
We may refuse your clearance, or subsequently withdraw it, if we later find out that you have lied or withheld information.

A form of these words will be used by the VCO at the start of an interview.

(b) Interview Questions

UK Security Vetting provide VCOs with a common framework of questions on which to draw in the interview. Questions are used to help explore potential areas of risk.

Within the Criminality section of the interview:

Subject: Mandelson follow up - Cab Sec meeting this morning
Attachment: Vetting candour.docx

OFFICIAL-SENSITIVE

Olly,
Please see below a couple of updates in advance of the Cab Sec meeting this morning. We have not seen an agenda for the meeting.

1. Detail on questions asked through DV. Please find attached a note (agreed with UK Security Vetting) which sets out pertinent aspects of the DV clearance process. Security Questionnaire includes the following question which feels fairly catch all:  Answer: Yes or No (NB. If yes, further information is then asked for)
2. Should we access Mandelson's email. There is a legal basis to access them ("There are grounds to suspect serious or gross misconduct (as set out in the Disciplinary Procedures), criminal activity or behaviour that calls into question a person's security clearance." And "There is reasonable expectation of legal or administrative action."). I am speaking with legal/ESND today to talk about options and advice to you, include benefits/risks of accessing now vs waiting until definite reason to access.
3. Should FCDO use  DV process for some posts. I put the question to Ian, his response as follows: This is called 'enhanced DV' (or eDV). It is not a product that the FCDO knows much about. We don't and haven't used it. The public guidance about eDV (here) suggests it is similar to DV. One assumes with some greater probing. We would have to speak to others to learn more, if this is something that Olly would like us to pursue further?
4. Recruitment for new HMA Washington. Working towards advert going live on Friday.

Actions from last meeting (NB. None were for FCDO – I have not yet seen the final version of the timeline):

- Ailsa to share a final version of the timeline (this should include any PM-FS conversations regarding the appointment of Peter M) with the agreed list. Timing - suggest end of today
- CabSecO to set and manage a standard copylist for all discussions and sharing of info on this topic. The recipients of this email are the copylist, so please check with me or Elkie before adding anyone.
- CabSecO (Zoe\0 nnnnto speak to former CabSec to understand what (if any) conversations he had with potential political candidates for HMA Washington last Autumn and if so whether conflicts were discussed. Timing - end of today today
- JCS to check whether any issues / concerns / reporting regarding Peter M were brought to the government's attention in the interim period between appointment and the reporting last week. Timing - end of today
